From its first publication, this book has been used as a text-book in all the State Normal Schools of New York, copies being ordered of each successive edition for the text-book libraries. But in 1879, Prof. A. N. Husted of the Albany Normal wrote:—"We think that every member of our graduating class should own a copy of your Common School Law. * * * For what will you furnish the books if we take twenty-five or more?"

And when President E. P. Waterbury took charge of the school, he expressed the same wish, as follows:—"I think of recommending all graduates to procure your little volume on School Law. What are the most favorable terms you can give in quantity, say fifty?"

Since then most of the normal schools have ordered in this way, each student of the graduating class purchasing his own copy. Thus on Feb. 4, 1897, Vice-Principal Curtis ordered 75 copies for the graduating class of the Oneonta Normal; and on March 8, the teacher, Charles J. Staples, wrote: "I have been using your school law book with a class of ninety. They found it admirably suited for a five week's course in this subject."

It cannot be called the best, because there is nothing with which to compare it. It is simply invaluable to every teacher.—H. R. Sanford, Ph. D., Conductor of Teachers' Institutes.

FROM NEW YORK SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS

The study of this subject is necessary upon the part of every person intending to enter the teachers' examination. I shall be pleased to call the attention of our teachers to it.—Stephen Pollard, 2d district, Allegany county, July 23, 1896.

I have reviewed your book carefully and can heartily recommend it to teachers.—E. B. Whitney, 2d district, Broome county, July 24, 1896.

This I believe is the only text-book published on the subject, and it is perfectly reliable, brief, and comprehensive. It is indispensable to all teachers, and just at this time will fill a much needed want in helping teachers to prepare for examinations. You seem always prepared to meet every emergency.—Nelson J. Adams, 2d district Cayuga county, July 24, 1896.

I have carefully examined the book and find it just what is needed at the present time. I shall take pleasure in recommending it to teachers who desire a more extensive knowledge of the subject.—W. A. Holcomb, 2d Dist., Chautauqua county, July 27, 1896.

I have been recommending your School Law to teachers for a long time. Your new edition is superior to anything I have ever seen in this line.—J. R. Flagg, 3d Dist., Chautauqua county, July 28, 1896.

It seems especially adapted to the teacher and to the trustee, and I shall take pleasure in recommending it to my teachers.—Luther L. Stillman, 2d Dist., Dutchess county, July 27, 1896.

After careful examination I pronounce it to be just what is needed by teachers to prepare for the examination in the subject. One of the many points of excellence in this book is its arrangement, which enables one to find just what he is looking for without difficulty.—James Ryther, 2d Dist., Erie county, July 27, 1896.

The New York Uniform Question Books.

New York requires that no public school teacher shall be licensed except after passing one of the regular stated examinations upon the questions prepared by the State Department at Albany, and sent out from there, being UNIFORM for the entire State.

Never before were questions subjected to such previous tests as these. New York has a State Examining Board, made up of the Institute Instructors, the Inspectors of Teachers' Classes, and the Examinations Clerk. These are all high-salaried men—the best the State is able to find at $2,500 and $3,000 a year. The subjects are divided up among these men, and each prepares on his own topic the best set of questions he can make. Then the sets of questions are discussed by the entire board, every possible criticism of the individual questions and of the set of questions as a whole being suggested and discussed in open meeting. Finally the questions thus amended and approved are submitted to the State Superintendent for his inspection.

They may reasonably be called Standard Questions for the Examination of Teachers; and they have a special advantage in that they are graded, those for First Grade Certificates being wholly different from those for Second and Third Grade Certificates.

These Questions with Answers have been published as follows:

1. The New York Question Book, with all the Questions of the Uniform, State, Cornell University Scholarship, and Normal School Entrance Examinations to March 31, 1890, with Answers to the Uniform Questions. 8vo. pp. 461. Cloth, $2.00; manilla, $1.00.

2. The same, Supplement No. 1, April, 1890, to June, 1891, 8vo. pp. 163; No. 2, Aug., 1891, to June, 1892, 8vo, pp. 139. Each in manilla, 25 cents. Both in one volume, cloth, uniform with the New York Question Book, $1.00.

The number of Questions in these three volumes is as follows: algebra, 339; American history, 733; arithmetic, 958; astronomy, 100; book-keeping, 220; botany, 123; chemistry, 110; civil government, 674; composition, 207; current topics, 548; drawing, 499; French, 30; general history, 143; geography, 984; geology, 109; geometry, 199; German, 30; grammar, 1046; Latin, 195; literature, 160; methods, 549; penmanship, 61; physics, 240; physiology, 707; reading, 83; rhetoric, 64; school economy, 91; school law, 228; zoölogy, 120—Total, 9,460.

3. The same, Uniform Questions and Answers only, Supplements No. 3, Aug., 1892, to June, 1893; No. 4, Aug., 1893 to June, 1894; No. 5, Aug., 1894 to June, 1895; No. 6, Aug., 1895, to June, 1896; No. 7, Aug., 1896, to June, 1897; No. 8, Aug. 1897, to June, 1898. Each, Cloth, $1.00; manilla, 50 cts.

4. The same, the Questions and Answers in Drawing from August, 1892, to June, 1896. The same, Aug. 1896 to June 1898. Each, Cloth, $1.00, manilla, 50 cts.

5. The same, the Questions and Answers in (a) Algebra, Book-Keeping, and Physics; (b) American History, (c) Arithmetic, (d) Civil Government and School Law; (e) Geography; (f) Grammar; (g) Methods and School Economy; (h) Physiology. Each, manilla, 25 cts.

Helps for the Uniform Examinations.

The best helps in all subjects are the questions themselves already given, with the answers, elsewhere advertised. Other special helps in each subject are as follows:

1st, 2d, and 3d Grade Subjects

American history.—For rapid review, to fix the outlines in mind, get Williams's "Topics and References" (50 cts.), or Godard's "Outlines" (50 cts.). Remember that there are always questions in New York State history, for which the only preparation is Hendrick's "Brief History of the Empire State" (75 cts.).

Arithmetic.—Bradford's "30 Problems in Percentage" (25 cts.) and Bassett's "Latitude, Longitude, and Time" (25 cts.) may carry you through where you would otherwise fail if you are weak in these subjects.

Geography.—There are always questions on New York State geography; get Bardeen's "Geography of the Empire State" (75 cts.). The "Regents' Questions in Geography", with answers, is excellent (50 cts.).

Grammar.—The questions are all upon the old lines of straight grammar. Take a thorough drill in Kiddle's "3000 Grammar Questions and Answers" ($1.00). He was editor of Brown's grammars.

Orthography.—Sanford's "Limited Speller" (25 cts.) contains every word ever given at these examinations, and does not waste your time on words not likely to be given.

Physiology.—You will get help from the two Dime Question Books, "Physiology", and "Stimulants and Narcotics", 10 cents each.

School Law.—The only book is Bardeen's "Manual of School Law", cloth $1.00; paper 50 cts.

1st and 2d Grades

Civil Government.—Get Northam's "Civil Government for Common Schools" (75 cts.). It is the only adequate New York book.

Current Topics.—The best preparation is the Current Topics given in THE SCHOOL BULLETIN, $1.00 a year, 10 cts. a number.

Drawing.—Get Prang's "4th-grade Manual" (75 cts.)

Methods and School Economy.—Get DeGraff's "School Room Guide", cloth $1.50; paper 50 cts.

1st Grade

Algebra.—Michael's "Algebra for Beginners" (75 cts.) is an easy and sufficient preparation.

Book-Keeping.—The "Dime Question Book of Book-Keeping" (10 cts.) will very likely carry you through.

Physics.—The "Dime Question Book of Physics" (10 cts.) will be of much help.

The Regents' Questions

1. The Regents' Questions in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, and Spelling from the first examination in 1866 to June, 1882. Being the 11,000 Questions for the preliminary examinations for admission to the University of the State of New York, prepared by the Regents of the University, and participated in simultaneously by more than 250 academies, forming a basis for the distribution of more than a million of dollars. Complete with Key. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 473. $2.00.

2. Complete. The same as above but without answers. Cloth, pp. 340. $1.

3. Separately. The same, each subject by itself, all Manilla, 16mo.

Arithmetic, 1293 Questions, pp. 93, 25 cts. Geography, 1987 Questions, pp. 70, 25 cts. Grammar, 2976 Questions, pp. 109, 25 cts. Spelling, 4800 Words, pp. 61, 25 cts. Keys to Arithmetic, Geography, and Grammar, each 25 cts.

In the subjects named, no other Question Book can compare with these either in completeness, in excellence, or in popularity. By legislative enactment no lawyer can be admitted to the bar in the State of New York without passing a Regents' examination in these subjects. No questions ON OTHER SUBJECTS OR OF LATER DATE are printed BY SUBJECTS or WITH ANSWERS.

4. The Regents' Examination Papers for the Academic Years 1892–3, 1894–5, 1895–6, and 1896–7. Cloth, 12mo, each year, $1.00; boards, each year, 50 cts.

These books give no answers, but they contain all the questions for the year in all departments, including Academic, Medical, Dental, Veterinary, Law, and Library examinations, embracing the following subjects: algebra, anatomy, arithmetic, art topics, astronomy, bibliography, book-binding, book-keeping, botany, Cæsar, cataloguing, chemistry, Cicero, contracts, corporations, dentistry, drawing, electric engineering, English, ethics, French, geography, geology, geometry, German, Greek, histology, N. Y., U. S., English, French, Greek, and Roman history, home science, Homer, hygiene, Italian, Latin, law, library work, Am., English, French, German, Latin and Greek literature, metallurgy, materia medica, obstetrics, Ovid, painting, pathology, pedagogics, physical geography, physics, physiology, psychology, real property, Sallust, Shakspeare, spelling, stenography, surgery, therapeutics, torts, trigonometry, Virgil, wills, Xenophon, zoölogy.

5. The Dime Question Books, with full answers, notes, queries, etc. Paper, pp. about 40. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Each 10 cts.

The immense sale of the Regents' Questions with answers in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, and Spelling has led to frequent inquiry for like questions in the Advanced Examination. As it is not permitted to print answers to these, we have had prepared this series. Frequently a $1.50 book is bought for the sake of a few questions in a single study, Here the studies may be taken up one at a time, a special advantage in New York, since applicants for State and Uniform Certificates may present themselves for examination in only part of the subjects, and receive partial Certificates. The same plan is very generally pursued elsewhere.

Special Books for Regents' Schools.

1. The Regents' Questions in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, and Spelling from the first examination in 1866 to June, 1882. (No questions of later date will be printed.) Being the 11,000 Questions for the preliminary examination for admission to the University of the State of New York, prepared by the Regents of the University, and participated in simultaneously by more than 250 academies, forming a basis for the distribution of more than a million of dollars. Complete with Key. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 473. $2.00.

2. Complete. The same as above but without answers. Pp. 340. $1.00.

3. Separately The same, each subject by itself, all Manilla, 16mo.:

Arithmetic, 1293 Questions, pp. 93, 25 cts. Geography, 1987 Questions, pp. 70, 25 cts. Grammar, 2976 Questions, pp. 100, 25 cts. Spelling, 4800 Words, pp. 61, 25 cts. Keys to Arithmetic, Geography, and Grammar, each 25 cts.

These are of course an indispensable preparation for the Regents' Examinations, and have been used for twenty years in most Regents' schools.

4. Regents' Selections in Literature. Selections for Repetition from Memory at the Examinations conducted by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, in connection with the courses of American, German, and French Literature. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 56, 25 cts. Each separate, paper, 10 cts.

These selections were officially prepared in the Regents' office, and published under the direction of Mr. James Russell Parsons, jr. Besides their special purpose, they will be found admirable for use in classes.

5 Outlines of English Literature. By BLANCHE R. DANIELS. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 50. interleaved for notes. 50 cts.

This has been prepared especially for Regents' classes, and follows the Syllabus closely. It contains 49 portraits, with sketches, critical notes, etc., and while invaluable for its special purpose, will also be found of great utility in all literature classes.

6. Review Problems in Arithmetic for Schools under the supervision of the Regents. By Mrs. JENNIE B. PRENTICE. Paper, 16mo, pp. 93. 20 cts. Key, 25 cts.

7. Review Questions in Geography for Schools under the supervision of the Regents. By Mrs. JENNIE B. PRENTICE. Paper, 16mo, pp. 48. 15 cts.

These books have been prepared to supplement the published books of Regents' Questions, and afford an admirable drill in these subjects. Not a single problem in the first can be found in any published arithmetic, and very few questions in geography have ever been asked by the Regents that are not to be found in the second.

8. Elementary English. Prepared with reference to the Regents' Examinations in the State of New York. By JOHN D. WILSON. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 50. 35 cts.

This contains among other things all the work in Etymology required by the last Regents' Syllabus.

9. A Vocabulary of Cæsar's Gallic War, Book II. By GEORGE M. SMITH. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 69. 50 cts.

10. Conspiracy of the Helvetians. Five chapters of Cæsar's Gallic War. For use in First-Year Latin Classes, especially in Regents' Schools. Containing Special Vocabulary, Exercises in Latin Composition, Idioms, and Irregular Comparisons, with Suggestions for Study. By a High School Teacher. Paper, 16mo, pp. 20. 10 cts.

Helps in Regents' Examinations.

1. The Regents' Examination Record. The present edition of this Record covers the course of study adopted for the five years 1895-1900. It has received the approval of the Regents' office, and blanks are left to provide for possible changes after the year 1900. This Record is well-known in Regents' schools as an indispensable time-saver. It contains an alphabetical index, a classified record of certificates and diplomas, and individual records for 432 pupils, with dates of all credits, pass-cards, certificates, and diplomas. Price $3.00. For the larger schools, a double size, for 864 pupils, is bound in canvass. Price $6.00.

2. Regents' Individual Card Records. These give the same individual record as above, but are printed separately on cardboard. Price $1.50 a hundred.

3. Regents' Examination Paper. This is prepared from forms furnished by the Regents' office, and is of a weight and quality of paper chosen there as best fitted for the purpose. It is used by the Regents themselves in examinations conducted by them. The paper is printed in four forms, viz.: Whole sheets, Half-sheets, Spelling in half-sheets, and Book-Keeping in whole sheets. We suggest for most schools the following proportion:

Whole sheets, 350, equal to half-sheets	700
Half-sheets	100
Spelling	100
Book-Keeping, 50, equal to half-sheets	100
	1,000

We will however fill orders in any proportion desired. The price is $2.00 per 1,000 half-sheets. It is done up on two sides in heavy tar-board, making a light and safe express package. The same boards are to be used in sending the students' papers to the Regents.

4. Regents' Drawing Paper. The demand for a paper that would answer all the requirements for the examination in drawing led us to prepare a special paper of the size and quality approved by the Regents. This is uniform in size with the other paper, but is not included in the assortment put up in packages. It cost $2.50 per ream, or 50 cts. per 100 sheets, is of exceptional quality, and is usually considered indispensable where the drawing examination it to be taken.

This paper is of the best quality and we recommend it first; but for those who can not afford it and want a cheaper paper we can furnish a grade at $1.50 per ream, 40 cts. per 100 sheets, that is the best such money can buy.

5. Syllabus of Regents' Examinations in American History. These are published two months before each examination, and have been prepared from the beginning by WELLAND HENDRICK, the institute conductor and author of "A Brief History of the Empire State." 5c. each; 50c. a dozen.

6. Review Questions in Hendrick's History of the Empire State, 16 pp. 5 cts. each; 50 cts. a dozen. A capital preparation for examinations.

—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.—

School Records and Reports.

1. The Bulletin Class Register. Designed by EDWARD SMITH. Pressboard cover Three sizes, (a) 6 x 7, for terms of 20 weeks; (b) 5 x 7, for terms of 14 weeks. When not otherwise specified this size is always sent. Pp 48. Each 25 cts. (c), like (b) but with one-half more (72) pages, 35 cts.

This register gives lines on each of 12 pages for 29 names, and by a narrow leaf puts opposite these names blanks for one entry each day for either 14 or 20 weeks, as desired, with additional lines for summary, examinations, and remarks. Nothing can be more simple, compact, and neat, where it is desired simply to keep a record of attendance, deportment, and class-standing. It is used in nearly two-thirds of the union schools of New York.

2. The Yearly Class Register. Half-leather, 42 leaves, 8 x 10. $1.50.

This is prepared for those who like the plan of the Bulletin Register but want something larger and more substantial. It is on the same plan as the Bulletin Register, but it has a much larger page, is ruled in five colors, so that the vertical columns are easily followed, and contains 42 leaves, each for 25 names, and the record of 20 weeks for each name, thus containing three times the space of the Bulletin Register. It is substantially bound in half-leather.

3. The Bulletin Absence Record. Half-leather, cloth sides, pp. 400, 11 x 11½ inches. $3.00.

This is a record of absences for terms of 20 weeks, ruled 25 names to a page, with faint ruling for half-days, so as to be used for 50 names to a page if desired. The weeks are numbered, and the ruling for the days of the week is in five colors, so that the vertical lines are easily followed. For its purpose it is the most convenient book ever issued.

4. The Peabody Class Record, No. 1, with 3 blanks to each scholar each day for a year. Boards, 4½ x 9½, pp. 100, $1.00. No. 2, with 5 blanks to each scholar, 8 x 11, $1.50. The names need be written but once.

5. Robinson's Numeral School Register. Manilla, 8 x 12, pp. 16, 25 cts. Each pupil has a number, shown in the Index, and these printed numbers are checked, making a compact record, easily kept.

6. Ryan's School Record, 112 blanks to a sheet, per dozen sheets, 50 cts.

7. Keller's Monthly Report Card, to be returned with signature of parent or guardian, card-board, 2¾ x 4, per hundred, $1.00.

8. Shaw's Scholar's Register, for each week, with Abstract for the Term. Paper, 5 x 7, pp. 16. Per dozen, 50 cts. Each pupil keeps his own record.

9. Jackson's Class Record Cards. Per set of 90 white and 10 colored cards, with hints, 50 cts. Only imperfect recitations need be marked.

10. Aids to School Discipline, contain 80 Certificates, 120 Checks, 200 Cards, 100 Single and Half Merits. Per box, $1.25. Supplied separately per hundred: Half Merits, 15 cts., Cards, 15 cts., Checks, 50 cts., Certificates, 50 cts.

The Buffalo Examination Questions.

All the questions given at the first 17 examinations of teachers in the city of Buffalo, June 3, 1892, to July 27, 1896, are now published in a single volume of 318 pages. Those given at the next ten examinations, to June 30, 1898, are published in a second volume of 176 pages. Price of each in manilla 50 cts., in cloth $1.00, postpaid. These examinations were for the following positions: principals of primary or grammar school; assistant in grammar school; assistant in German primary or grammar school; kindergarten. In the second volume, the same, and also high school certificates in Latin and Greek. The questions in the first volume number 3025, distributed as follows: Algebra 100; American history 404; arithmetic 406; botany 6; civil government 236; composition 102; drawing 6; geography 400; geometry 70; German 25; grammar 396; history of education 5; kindergarten 5; music 6; physical geography 6; physics 253; physiology 405; psychology 6; rhetoric 106; spelling 75; zoölogy 6. Those in the second volume correspond.

The value of these volumes is unusual. Previous to the establishment of the board of examiners in Buffalo all teachers had been appointed by the superintendent, and whatever certificates they held were given by him. The new law made it a prerequisite to appointment that a teacher should hold a certificate given upon examination by this board upon printed questions prepared by it and opened upon a given day and hour. Hence the questions were prepared with scrupulous care; and as they had reference to this sole purpose, they have a rare value in the examination of teachers. The range of subjects, and the division into grades makes them usable everywhere. The volumes are uniform with those of the New York State Uniform Questions, of which the following editions are published:

1. The New York Question Book, with all the Questions of the Uniform, State, Cornell University Scholarship, and Normal School Entrance Examinations to March 31, 1890, with Answers to the Uniform Questions. 8vo, pp. 461. In manilla, $1.00; in cloth, $2.00.

2. The same, Supplements No. 1, April, 1890, to June, 1891, 8vo, pp. 163: No. 2, August, 1891, to June, 1892, 8vo, pp. 139. Each in manilla, 25 cts, Both in one volume, cloth, uniform with the New York Question Book, $1.00.

The number of questions in these three volumes is as follows: algebra, 339; American history, 733; arithmetic, 958; astronomy, 100; book-keeping, 220; botany, 123; chemistry, 110; civil government, 674; composition, 207; current topics, 548; drawing, 499; French, 30; general history, 143; geography, 984; geology, 109; geometry, 199; German, 30; grammar, 1046; Latin, 195; literature, 160; methods, 549; penmanship, 61; physics, 240; physiology, 707; reading, 83; rhetoric, 64; school economy, 91; school law, 228; zoölogy, 120—Total, 9,460.

3, The same, Uniform Questions and Answers only, Supplements Nos. 3-8. Each, in manilla, 50 cts.; in cloth, $1.00.

Southwick's Dime Question Books.

Some time ago The Inter Ocean of Chicago said:

"It is the doctrine of homœopathy that like cures like. The better educational journals have for some months been recognizing and deploring the use of cramming-books, but still the sale of cramming-books has increased. The fact remained that by the purchase and study of Somebody's Question Book the teacher could pass an examination in which she would have failed without such preparation. That the book was crude in design, inaccurate and unscholarly in execution, and in exact antagonism to all true method of study was not to the point. Still the facts remained: (1) The teacher must have a certificate, or she could not teach; (2) she could not get a certificate without passing an examination; (3) with a "Question Book" she could pass the examination, and without it she couldn't. Hence, spite of denunciation, she paid her twelve shillings for the book, as she would have paid it for quinine, had the doctor ordered it.

"In the interest of good scholarship, what then can be done to check the purchase of quack question books? There is but one remedy—to produce question books which shall be yet more available and effective than the others for the special purpose of passing an examination, but at the same time shall be scholarly in design and execution, and adapted, not to satisfy the mind with the little knowledge which is dangerous because it satisfies, but by presenting information logically and interestingly, to stimulate to further investigation.

"The author of this series has done precisely this work, and done it wonderfully well. * * * As we look over the successive numbers we are astonished at the fertility, and readiness, and above all the logical acumen of the author. * * * Perhaps it is in the very assurance one feels that the work is done by a master that much of the interest consists. Certainly no one can read a half dozen pages of any of these books without desiring to finish them, or finish them without feeling that his time has been well spent. We commend the series unhesitatingly, as not simply the best of the question books, but as thoroughly satisfactory where all others have been lamentably deficient."

Aids to School Discipline.

These consist of 500 separate tokens, viz. 100 Half-Merits, 100 Merits, 200 Cards, (5's, like that here shown), 120 Checks (25's), and 80 Certificates (100's). The Half-Merits and Merits are printed on card-board, and the Cards, Checks, and Certificates are all printed attractively in two colors, with a watered back-ground.

The Aids may be used in various ways. For instance, in the morning give each pupil a card (5 merits), representing a perfect day, to be forfeited for misdemeanor, or failure in recitation. Single Merits and Half-Merits are for pupils who fail to retain their cards yet are worthy of some credit. Five Cards held by any pupil are exchanged for a Check (25 Merits), representing a perfect School Week. Four Checks are exchanged for a Certificate of Merit, representing 100 Merits or a perfect Month. These Certificates bear the pupil's name, and are signed by the teacher. The number held shows the pupil's standing.

It is needless to discuss the value of proper incentives, for either children or adults. The use of millions of these Aids, with the unbounded approval of teachers, parents, and pupils, assures us that they are doing great good.

They save time by avoiding the drudgery of record keeping and reports.

They abolish all notions of "partiality" by determining pupil's standing with mathematical precision. They interest parents in the school.

The Song Budget Music Series.

1. The Song Budget. Paper, small 4to, pp. 76, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.
2. The Song Century. Paper, small 4to, pp. 87, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.
3. The Song Patriot. Paper, small 4to, pp. 80, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.
4. The Song Budget Music Series Combined, containing all three of the above in one volume, with opening exercises for schools added. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 260. 50 cts.

The distinguishing features of the Song Budget Music Series, of which more than half a million copies have been sold, are these :

1st. To give a good deal for the money. Each of the books is sold at 15 cts., though containing as much as the usual 50-cent book. We publish editions of each of them in leatherette at 25 cts., but the great sale has been for the 15-cent editions that everybody could afford. Tens of thousands have been sold for institutes and other gatherings where an expensive book could not have been purchased.

2d. To give only the best music. The cost of copyright has never been allowed to stand in the way of really desirable songs, and large sums have been paid for the right to use the songs selected.

3d. To give music just as it was written. Every piece, so far as possible, has been harmonized directly from the original ; and while the setting is uniformly in four parts, which makes the playing easy for those unused to intricate accompaniments, the harmonies have been restored, and the music made infinitely richer. Many a cabinet-organist who has sought in vain for a "Lost Chord" will find and delight in it here.

4th. To give only songs that are strong, healthful, helpful, both in music and in words. There is no sickly sentimentality in the Song Budget Series. Life is real, life is earnest in these songs ; and it is happy, too. Pathetic songs may be found here, for the youthful mind craves the sweet sorrow of pathetic contemplation. But the pathos is always real, and always offers helpful suggestion. Nothing mawkish, nothing of strained or affected emotion, will be found in any of these books.

5. The School Room Chorus, containing all the songs in the Song Budget and as many more. Boards, small 4to, pp. 147. 35 cents.

6. The Song Gymnast. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 110. 50 cents.

This contains three series of calisthenic exercises for schools : Elementary, Advanced, and Exhibition exercises, all with music, careful directions, and abundant illustrations, some hundreds of figures being given.

7. Songs of the Lyceum League. Leatherette, small 4to, pp. 48. 20 cts.

This is a collection prepared by Mr. Francis Bellamy for the Lyceum League of America. Besides patriotic songs, many of them original and copyrighted, it has a choice selection of others for the school and family.

8. The Diadem of School Songs. By WILLIAM TILLINGHAST. Boards, small 4to, pp. 160. 50 cents.

This is the only book we publish which contains instruction in vocal music. It is widely used and always liked.

9. Songs from the Arbor-Day Manual. Manilla, 8vo, pp. 60. 25 cents.

Particularly adapted for Arbor-Day, but suitable for general use.

Diplomas Printed for Your School.

The increasing demand for diplomas, due to the perfection of courses of study in our academies and union schools, has led us to give especial attention to providing forms which shall be tasteful and handsome, and yet far lower in price than where single orders are received and a new plate engraved for each school. We keep in type three or four of the styles most commonly approved and furnish them to order, with the name of the school printed as part of the diploma, and with any changes that the individual taste of the principal may suggest, at the following rates:

(a)	Bond paper, 14x17,	for 25 or fewer	$5.00
	" " "	50	6.50
(b)	" 16x20,	" 25 or fewer	5.50
	" "	50	7.50
(c)	Parchment, 15x20,	" 1 copy	3.50
	Each additional copy		.75

Specimens will be sent on request.

Among the institutions for which we have printed diplomas, in some cases for the past fifteen years, are the following:

CITY SCHOOLS: Amsterdam, Binghamton, Elmira, Lockport, Syracuse.

NORMAL SCHOOLS: New Paltz, N. Y.; Deport, Texas.

UNION SCHOOLS: Afton, Amityville, Angola, Arcade, Attica, Avon, Bainbridge, Baldwinsville, Ballston, Bay Shore, Belfast, Boonville, Brocton, Candor, Canajoharie, Canastota, Catskill, Central Square, Chaumont, Chester, Chittenango, Clyde, Cobleskill, Corfu, Crown Point, Cuba, De Ruyter, Dryden, East Syracuse, Ellington, Flatbush, Forestville, Fort Covington, Frankfort, Garrison, Geddes, Greene, Groton, Hammondsport, Herkimer, Hermon, Holland Patent, Honeoye Falls, Islip, Jordan, Livonia, Lockport, Madison, Manlius, Mannsville, Margaretville, Matteawan, Mechanicsville, Middleburgh, Morrisville, Montgomery, Mount Morris, Parish, Perry, Phelps, Port Byron, Port Henry, Riverhead, Rushford, Sag Harbor, St. Johnsville, Sandy Creek, Sayville, Sherburne, Sidney, Skaneateles, Smithville, Stillwater, Suspension Bridge, Three Mile Bay, Tompkinsville, Tonawanda, Tuckahoe, Union Springs, Washington Falls, Washingtonville, Waterford, Waterloo, Webster, Whitney's Point, Wilson, Windsor, Wolcott, *N. Zinc-Engraved Portrait for a Dollar.

In the early management of our Teachers' Agency we had much difficulty in regard to Photographs. It is almost impossible to secure an election of a teacher by correspondence without sending a picture. But some applicants neglected to send us a photograph; others sent one but urged us not to let it go out of our hands as it could not be duplicated; and on the other hand we found school-boards dilatory about returning the photographs we sent, so that a teacher would lose an election in one place while his chances were being considered in another.

To obviate this difficulty we made arrangements to prepare Postage-Stamp Photographs, and of those little pictures we have made more than half a million for our candidates and others. But they are rather small, and we have at last succeeded in making a contract by which we can supply for One Dollar 100 photo-engraved portraits of the size and quality of the specimen here given, printed like a postage-stamp on adhesive paper, which are to be known hereafter as Circle Photos. This is an offer unprecedented, and is made possible only by the quantity we order. For Two Dollars we will send not only 100 gummed pictures like this, but also the plate from which they are printed, which can be used on any printing-press, and thus inserted without extra cost in catalogues, circulars, programmes, diplomas, etc. Portraits of the entire Faculty of a school, with the members of the Board of Education, may thus be procured at slight expense, and used wherever desired in connection with school-printing.

For this purpose we prefer that cabinet photographs should be sent, and if the photograph is of any other size we are compelled to make an extra charge of one dollar. We still make the postal-photographs, and will furnish 100 of those for $1.00 from a photograph of any size.

Be sure to write your name on the back of the picture sent. We sometimes get twenty photographs by a single mail, some of them without any name or accompanying letter, and with the post-mark effaced, so that it is impossible to guess from whom they came.

In the process of making these portraits it is necessary to trim the original photograph about the edges, but the main picture is preserved, and when desired it will be returned.

To recapitulate: For One Dollar sent with a cabinet photograph we will furnish post-paid 100 gummed portraits of the size and quality here shown.

For Two Dollars, we will furnish not only the 100 circle-photos, but also the plate from which they are printed.

Blackboards and Blackboard Slating.

1. Hornstone Slating.—No feature of the school-room is of more vital importance to the health of scholars and teachers than the Blackboard. If it be gray and greasy the amount of chalk used fills the air with dust which produces catarrhal and bronchial difficulties, and yet makes so faint a mark that the children's eyes are permanently injured.

The Hornstone slating contains no oil or grease, and will not become faded or greasy with use. By its use the eyesight of children is saved, and most of the evil effects of chalk dust are escaped; for a beautifully clear and distinct mark is produced with the minimum of crayon wear and dust. The reason is that the surface finishes down as smooth as slate, while possessing none of the disadvantages.

The application of two coats is recommended for old or imperfect boards, but for new boards and old boards with good foundations, we recommend two additional coats, with a final rubbing down with pumicestone. This gives a blackboard never yet equalled. Principal H. F. Miner of Skaneateles, N. Y., writes after seven years' use: "The three essentials of a good blackboard: smoothness, dead blackness, and durability, are admirably combined in this material. When properly applied to a suitable foundation no board that I ever saw equals the Hornstone."

The price is $8.00 a gallon, covering from 144 to 180 square feet with four coats. We shall be glad to send detailed circulars and give complete information to anyone in need of material.

2. Wooden Blackboards.—For small schools, where it would not pay to prepare a special surface, and where the old wall is unfit to be coated, we can furnish wooden boards, made of inch whitewood thoroughly kiln-dried, and with glued joints, slated with Hornstone, four coats, one side, and packed ready for shipping, at the following prices:

3 ft. x 6 ft.	$5.50	3 ft. x 10 ft.	$ 9.50
3 " " 8 "	7.50	3 " " 12 "	12.00

These are the regular sizes, and we will quote prices on special sizes when requested to do.

3. Tarboard Blackboards.—Where only a small board is desired portable boards are often most convenient. We make them of the best tarboard, slated with Hornstone on both sides, with wooden frame and rings for hanging, at the remarkably low price of $2.00 for a board 25x34 inches, or $3.00 for a board 34x50 inches. These are the cheapest blackboards ever offered. We also furnish these tarboard strips without frames, so that they can be tacked along on the wall, thus making a continuous board with an excellent Hornstone surface. In this form the sheet, 25x34 can be furnished, slated on one side, for $1.00, and the sheet 34x50 for $1.50.

Slated Cloth on Paper.—Another style of portable boards is slated cloth or paper mounted on rollers with hooks and rings for hanging up.

2 x 3 feet,	Cloth, $1.50.	Paper, $1.00	3 x 6 feet,	Cloth, $4.00.	Paper, $2.70
3 x 4 "	" 2.70.	" 1.80	4 x 6 "	" 5.40.	" 3.60

Slated cloth is furnished in rolls 4 feet wide at $2.00 a linear yard; slated paper at 50 cts. a square yard.

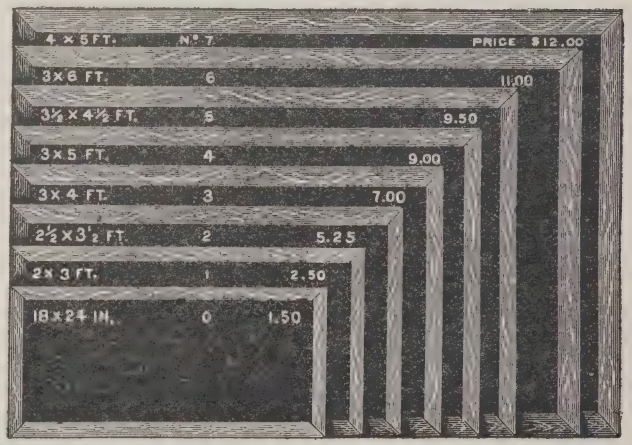
Wooden Blackboards.



1. Blackboards for the Wall.—We manufacture these ourselves of compo-board covered with Hornstone slating, four coats, making a light board to handle, as well as a perfect surface. The compo-board is made for us in sheets 4 feet by 18 feet, and we can make at short notice a board of any desired size within those dimensions. For schools this makes it possible to cover the exact space between windows, doors, etc., with a single sheet of blackboard, without seams of any kind. It can be put up by any one with a few screws, and when secured by moulding makes a handsome and absolutely perfect and permanent board. Our charge for such boards slated on one side and ready to put up, is $1.00 per square yard. Prices of moulding, chalk-troughs, etc., are given on application, as they depend on the size and shape of the surface to be covered.

2. Portable Blackboards.—We keep in stock the sizes above shown at prices named on each, and can make at short notice any other size called for. All these boards are of compo-board, covered with Hornstone slating, with frames of oak moulding. We believe them to be the very best blackboards manufactured. They are light, and cannot warp or crack, while the surface is perfect.

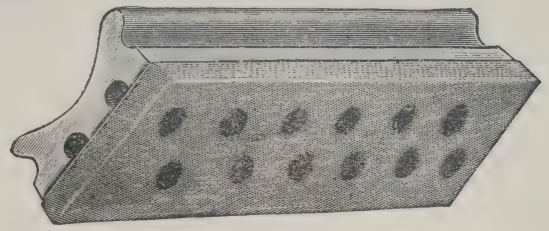
Dustless Blackboard Erasers.

1. The McCully Perforated Erase 15 cts. each by mail; 75 cts, a dozen by express.



When you have got a good blackboard be sure and get good Erasers. The Carpet Eraser, once almost universally used, has been rejected; the hard twine glazes and wears off the slated surface. Tacks carelessly driven and points projecting into the erasive material, have ruined or defaced many blackboards. Such tacks are not found until they have done some damage. Besides Carpet Erasers, or any others with flat surface, merely brush the crayon down to the crayon-ledge, and thence to the floor, whence it is constantly rising and permeating the air of the school-room. For this reason a Dustless Eraser should always be used, and the best we have found to be the McCully Perforated Eraser. Of this the marked peculiarity is that it provides spaces into which the crayon dust falls and where it remains until shaken out, outside the school-room. It deposits the chalk through the holes in the grooves, leaving the surface of the eraser always clean, and thus enabling it to take up every particle of dust. It is the neatest and prettiest eraser made. Its clean rectangular edges are especially adapted to map and other pictorial black-board work, where the erasing is to be done deftly and exactly. Principal Clapp, of Fulton, N. Y., says: "I have used the McCully Eraser n my school for nearly two years, and unhesitatingly recommend it as the best eraser on the market."

The Favorite Eraser. 15 cts. each by mail; 75 cts. a dozen by express.

This has long been what its name implies, a favorite. It is light, and catches the dust in the grooves of the felt. The felt is made of assorted colors, and the eraser is handsome as well as useful.

Special prices for large quantities will be given upon either of these erasers on application.

Portraits for the Schoolroom.

JOHN AMOS COMENIUS

JOHN HENRY PESTALOZZI

FREDERICK FROEBEL

EDWARD AUSTIN SHELDON

Naturally in buying pictures for the schoolroom the first call is for portraits of Pestalozzi and Froebel, with whose names, in this country at least, is worthily associated that of Dr. E. A. Sheldon, principal of the Oswego normal, who introduced Pestalozzian principles here. We have just had the three specially engraved and can furnish them on paper 22x28 inches, suitable for framing. The portrait of Comenius which we published some time ago, and which hangs in so many schoolrooms, will now have worthy companions, and the four pictures will be sent to any address postpaid for two dollars. They should be found in every schoolhouse in the country. Let the children become acquainted with COMENIUS, the father of modern education; PESTALOZZI, who was the first to teach children to observe; FROEBEL, who made school-life enter into the play as well as the work of the child; and SHELDON, thus far the greatest of American teachers.

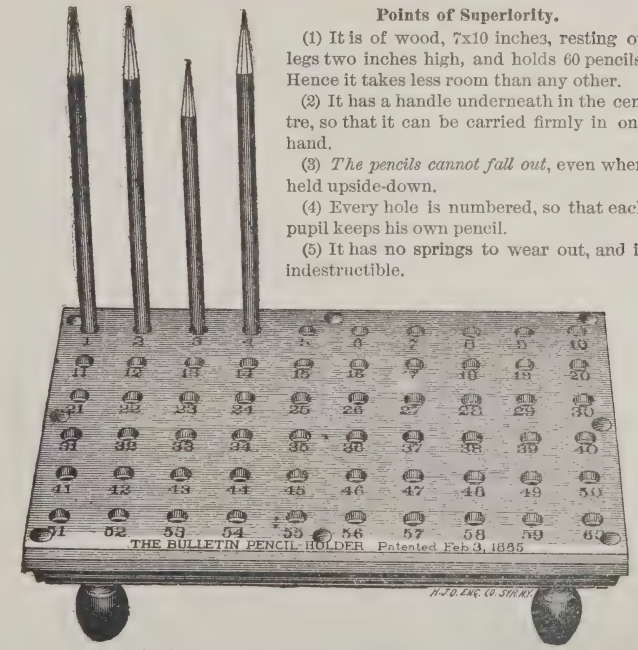
The Bulletin Pencil-Holder.



Points of Superiority.

(1) It is of wood, 7x10 inches, resting on legs two inches high, and holds 60 pencils. Hence it takes less room than any other.

(2) It has a handle underneath in the centre, so that it can be carried firmly in one hand.

(3) The pencils cannot fall out, even when held upside-down.

(4) Every hole is numbered, so that each pupil keeps his own pencil.

(5) It has no springs to wear out, and is indestructible.

Beware of the Spread of Contagious Diseases.

The alarming prevalence of diphtheria in the schools of Syracuse recently led to investigation both by the Board of Education and by the Board of Health. As a result it was determined that the principal source of danger was the lead-pencils, of which the present system of gathering and distribution did not ensure that every child should get his own. Accordingly on Dec. 12, 1893, an order was given us for 263 Bulletin Pencil-Holders, for use in ever room in the city schools where lead-pencils are distributed.

Send one dollar for a sample, and you will put it into every room in your school. It is equally available for the distribution of pens, in penmanship work. In many schools the pens are gathered and distributed, but at great inconvenience. This Holder makes the gathering and distribution easy and free from error.

Magill's History of Virginia

BY MARY TUCKER MAGILL.

Illustrated, 374 Pages, Cloth, Price $1.25.

Magill's History of Virginia has been in general use in the private and public schools of Virginia since 1873. It has been carefully revised and improved from time to time as occasion required, the last revision and enlargement being made in 1890. Up to that time it comprised 268 pages, and concluded with the narrative of John Brown's "Raid," leaving untold the story of Virginia's part in the great struggle between the States.

The History as now enlarged contains 374 pages, printed on good paper, from clear type, handsomely illustrated and strongly bound in cloth, embossed in gold and black. It is written in style so attractive as to catch and hold the attention of the scholar. There is not a page, from start to finish, that causes the interest of the reader to flag.

Stories from Virginia History

BY MARY TUCKER MAGILL.

217 Pages, Illustrated, Cloth, Price 65c.

"This little book, which is attractively bound and printed, and well illustrated, should constitute the child's first stepping-stone to historical research. It has been carefully prepared by Miss Mary Tucker Magill, of Winchester, for use in schools as an introduction to the study of the history of Virginia, and is well adapted for the purposes for which it is designed.

"Intricate questions of politics and state—things which woefully confuse the youthful mind—have been carefully culled from the work, and in their place have been substituted those more interesting facts which impress the child, and at the same time increase the thirst for additional knowledge.

"The illustrations in the book are good, and the subjects portrayed will have special fascination for our little ones.

"Miss Magill, in preparing this simple history, has shown that wisdom and judgment which is a prerequisite for success with writers for children."

The Property Rights of Married Women In Virginia

BY M. P. BURKS, ESQ., OF THE BEDFORD BAR.

Handsomely Printed, Clear Type, Good Paper, 87 Pages and Index, Full Sheep, Price $1.50. An invaluable aid to the Legal Profession; a brief and comprehensive treatment in reference to the Rights of Married Women.

From John Randolph Tucker, L. L. D., Dean, and Professor of Equity and Commercial Law, Constitutional and International Law, and Charles A. Graves, M. A., Professor of Common and Statute Law, Washington and Lee Univ.

"We have had the advantage of seeing the manuscript of 'The Property Rights of Married Women in Virginia,' by Mr. Martin P. Burks, of Bedford City.

"This essay is marked by careful and diligent study of the cases, analytic discussion of them, clear comprehension of fundamental principles, precision of statement, and conciseness of style, which will make it a valuable contribution to the law literature of the State. However the views of the author may differ from those of the reader, it will be found that he is fair in the presentation of disputed points and candid and able in their discussion; and the work may well be commended to the profession as worthy to take its place in the library of every lawyer and student in the State."

From W. M. Lile, Professor of Law at the University of Virginia.

"I am not a little gratified to learn that you contemplate publishing your monograph on the law of 'The Property Rights of Married Women in Virginia.' I have read it with singular interest and profit, and whenever occasion offers I shall commend it in terms more laudatory than I dare do here. It deals philosophically and exhaustively with a subject of gravest import, and one which, owing to much recent (and some of it wretched) legislation, is probably less familiar to the profession at large, and touching which the practitioner advises with less confidence than any other doctrine of equal importance in our law. I have reason to know that your work has been most laborious and painstaking, and I do not doubt will meet with that ready and gracious reception by the profession of the State which it so well deserves."

Old Virginia Clerks

BY F. JOHNSTON.

426 Pages, Illustrated, Cloth, Price $1.75.

Arranged alphabetically by counties, with complete index of names and dates of service, from 1634 to 1889.

"In this volume are the names and dates of service of more than eight hundred clerks who have held office in the counties of Virginia. It is a unique collection, and with its memorial sketches and incidents forms an entertaining and valuable contribution to the history of the State. Some of these clerks were remarkable for their skill, intelligence and usefulness. The majority of them were men of education. John Nicholas, the second clerk of Albemarle county, held the office for a period of sixty-six years. James Keith, of Frederick county, held his office sixty-two years, and a dozen or more are introduced to the reader who held office over half a century. James Steptoe and his descendants of Bedford were successive clerks for more than a hundred years. * * * James Steptoe was the college-mate and life-long friend of Thomas Jefferson, and was immortalized by William Wirt, in his life of Patrick Henry, as the clerk of the District Court at New London, before which Henry made his famous speech in the John Hook case. The book is full of interest from cover to cover. The date of the formation of each county in the State is given, with the name of the county or counties from which it was taken. And the names of the counties being given in alphabetical order, the book is easy of reference concerning any county."

AN AMERICAN INDUSTRY. A full description of the Silversmith's Art and Ecclesiastical Metalwork as carried on in Benziger Brothers' Factory of Church Goods, De Kalb Avenue and Rockwell Place, Brooklyn, N. Y. Small quarto, 48 pp., with 75 illustrations, printed in two colors. Mailed gratis on application.

This interesting book gives a full description of the various arts employed in the manufacture of Church goods, from the designing and modelling, through the different branches of casting, spinning, chasing, buffing, gilding, and burnishing. The numerous beautiful half-tone illustrations show the machinery and tools used, as well as rich specimens of the work turned out.

☞ BASED ON RECENT MEDICAL LITERATURE.

Gould's Medical Dictionaries

BY GEORGE M. GOULD, A.M., M.D.,

PRESIDENT, 1893–94, AMERICAN ACADEMY OF MEDICINE.

THE STANDARD MEDICAL REFERENCE BOOKS.

The Illustrated Dictionary of Medicine, Biology, and Allied Sciences.

INCLUDING THE PRONUNCIATION, ACCENTUATION, DERIVATION, AND DEFINITION OF THE TERMS USED IN MEDICINE AND THOSE SCIENCES COLLATERAL TO IT: BIOLOGY (ZOOLOGY AND BOTANY), CHEMISTRY, DENTISTRY, PHARMACOLOGY, MICROSCOPY, ETC. With many Useful Tables and numerous Fine Illustrations. Large, Square Octavo. 1633 pages. Third Edition now ready.

Full Sheep, or Half Dark-Green Leather, $10.00; with Thumb Index, $11.00
Half Russia, Thumb Index, $12.00

The Student's Medical Dictionary. Tenth Edition

INCLUDING ALL THE WORDS AND PHRASES GENERALLY USED IN MEDICINE, WITH THEIR PROPER PRONUNCIATION AND DEFINITIONS, BASED ON RECENT MEDICAL LITERATURE. With Tables of the Bacilli, Micrococci, Leucomains, Ptomains, etc., of the Arteries, Muscles, Nerves, Ganglia, and Plexuses; Mineral Springs of the U. S., etc. Small Octavo. 700 pages.

Half Dark Leather, $3.25; Half Morocco, Thumb Index, $4.00

☞ This edition has been completely rewritten, and is greatly enlarged and improved over former editions.

"We know of but one true way to test the value of a dictionary, and that is to use it. We have used the volume before us, as much as opportunity would permit, and in our search have never suffered disappointment. The definitions are lucid and concise, and are framed in the terms supplied by the latest authoritative literature, rather than by purely philological method. Obsolete words are omitted, and this has made the dimensions of the book convenient and compact. In making a dictionary, the author confesses that he has found out the labor consists in eliminating the useless, rather than adding the superfluous. The value of the work before us is increased by the large number of useful reference tables in anatomy, ptomains, micrococci, etc."—The Physician and Surgeon, Ann Arbor.

The Pocket Pronouncing Medical Lexicon.

A NEW EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED BY 200 PAGES.

Containing all the Words, their Definition and Pronunciation, that the Student generally comes in contact with; also elaborate Tables of the Arteries, Muscles, Nerves, Bacilli, etc., etc.; a Dose List in both English and Metric Systems, etc., arranged in a most convenient form for reference and memorizing. New Edition, from new type. The System of Pronunciation in this book is very simple. Thin 64 mo. 500 pages.

Full Limp Leather, Gilt Edges, $1.00; Thumb Index, $1.25.

These books may be ordered through any bookseller, or upon receipt of price the publishers will deliver free to the purchaser's address. Full descriptive circulars and sample pages sent free upon application.

80,000 COPIES OF GOULD'S DICTIONARIES HAVE BEEN SOLD.

Balzac (Honore De)--Cesar Birotteau.

Translated from the French. With fourteen choice illustrations by Harry C. Edwards. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound in Cloth, $1.00.

The novels of Honoré de Balzac are among the greatest works of the kind that any country has produced. That they go deeper into the human heart, represent more truly human passion, and reflect with greater accuracy the multiform phases of human life than the works of any other novelist is claimed for him by some of the foremost critics of the world. César Birotteau is one of his most beautiful and characteristic novels.

Calhoun (Major Alfred R.)--Maud Morton.

Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

"Maud Morton, by Major Calhoun, is a novel of New York life which shows the accidents and vicissitudes which overtake unprotected childhood in a great city. The heroine is left an orphan waif in the streets. Her mother, overcome by sickness and poverty, and driven from her lodgings by a relentless landlord, dies on the gas-lighted pavements. The child is picked up by a young man and carried home to his mother, by whom she is carefully nurtured and brought up to womanhood. It is with the after career of the heroine that the story principally deals. She proves to be an heiress of great wealth, and the struggle which ensues for its possession, with powerful and unscrupulous enemies, makes one of the most thrilling and fascinating stories that was ever produced. Her manly and true-hearted lover, whose loyalty and devotion are rewarded by the purest womanly affection, is a worthy counterpart of a most lovely and charming heroine. It is altogether a story of unusual interest and power, and of our own day.

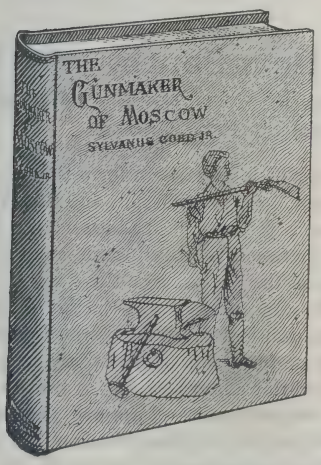
Cobb (Sylvanus, Jr.,)--Gunmaker of Moscow.

Author of "The Storm Secret," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



"The Gunmaker of Moscow" was written expressly for and published originally in the New York Ledger in 1856.

Over twenty thousand dollars—a great sum of money for those days—were spent in advertising it. "The Gunmaker" being a great story, and having been thus extensively advertised, met with phenomenal success, and so constant has been the demand for the back numbers of the Ledger containing it, that it has been republished three times in the Ledger. Notwithstanding these republications, the demand for "The Gunmaker" still continues.

"Few American works of fiction have ever enjoyed the popularity won by 'The Gunmaker.'"—Boston Courier.

"This story ranks with 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' in the number of its readers. It is one of the happiest memories of childhood of many persons now of mature years."—New York Evening Sun.

"'The Gunmaker of Moscow' is a tremendously exciting story."—New Orleans Picayune.

Dyer (Oliver)--Great Senators of the United States Forty Years Ago (1848 and 1849), With Personal Recollections and Delineations of Calhoun, Benton, Clay, Webster, General Houston, Jefferson Davis, etc. Bound in Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"Mr. Dyer's relation with the great Senators of forty years ago was one very fortunate for the acquiring of fresh impressions. It is impossible to read his reminiscences without being aware that the impressions he reports are genuine."—New York Times.

"Among the recent contributions to American history, none is worthy of more serious attention than a volume entitled 'Great Senators,' by Oliver Dyer. It would be easy to fill columns with effective extracts from this volume, but we must confine ourselves to two or three examples of incisive and impartial delineation. Mr. Dyer's analysis of Webster's individuality is the most searching that we have ever seen; indeed, it is the only one which accounts at once for the triumphs and the shortcomings of the great parliamentary champion of the Union."—New York Sun.

Mr. Dyer's book has been a great success. It is written in a brilliant and charming style, and deals with persons and a period of great interest to all Americans. While it is a delightful book for the passing hour, it is at the same time a serious contribution to American history; and one of the prominent New York daily newspapers well said: "Every library and every school house should have this contribution to our meager fund of enjoyable and instructive reminiscence." In it are told stories of Calhoun, Benton, Clay, Webster, Sam Houston and Jefferson Davis—men whose names awaken a flood of memories in the minds of all whose personal recollections extend to the times before the war, and which excite the curiosity of all who are interested in their country's history.

Grady (Henry W.)--The New South. With a

Character Sketch of Henry W. Grady, by Oliver Dyer. 16mo. Bound in Cloth. Uniform with "Great Senators." Price, $1.00.

In his letter consenting to write the series of letters which form this volume, Mr. Grady said: "It is a matter that I take great interest in, and I will give you six letters that I think will make an impression. My idea would be to deal in the first letter with the difference between the new South and the old. In the second, with the general growth of the South since the war. In the third, with the agriculture of the South. In the fourth, with the industrial status of the South. In the fifth, with the political condition of the South and its probable outcome, and touching the race problem. In the sixth, a general letter closing the series." Mr. Grady did not adhere strictly to this outline, but it affords a sufficiently clear idea of his intention and the contents of the volume. "In his letters to the New York Ledger on 'The New South,'" Mr. Dyer, in his eloquent sketch, says, "Mr. Grady gave to the world the gist and essence of all that he had been inspired to write on that subject by his love for the land of his birth, by his pride in her worth and his hope in her destiny. These letters evidently came hot from his heart; they are freighted with information, are picturesque in description, fervid and eloquent in style, honest in purpose and noble in spirit. They will long be treasured as the latest and ripest utterances of the remarkable man who wrote them."

Green (Anna Katharine)--The Forsaken Inn.

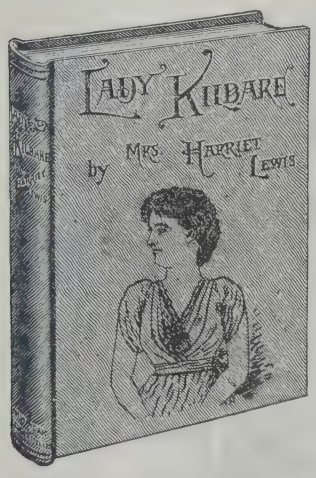
Illustrated. 12mo. 352 pages. Handsomely Bound in English Cloth, Black and Gold Stamping on Cover. Price, $1.50.

Anna Katharine Green's new novel will excite great curiosity and be widely popular. The authoress of "The Leavenworth Case" has always been considered extraordinarily clever in the construction of mystifying and exciting plots, but in her latest book she has not only eclipsed even herself in her specialty, but has combined with her story-telling gift a fascinating mixture of poetical qualities which makes "The Forsaken Inn" a work of such interest that it will not be laid down by an imaginative reader until he has reached the last line of the last chapter. The scene of the story is the Hudson, between Albany and Poughkeepsie, and the time is the close of the eighteenth century. In writing her previous books, the authoress carefully planned her work before putting pen to paper, but this story was written in a white heat, and under the spur of a moment of inspiration.

The illustrations of "The Forsaken Inn" are by Victor Perard. They are twenty-one in number, and are a beautiful embellishment of the book.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--Lady Kildare.

Author of "Her Double Life," "Sundered Hearts," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

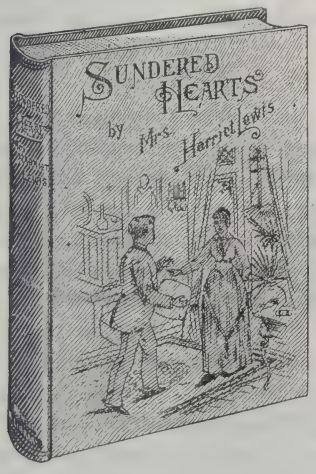


Among the most engrossing of the popular stories published in the New York Ledger in the last third of a century, is "Lady Kildare," a story not only of absorbing interest, but also of instructive value. It is an Irish tale, pure, invigorating and wholesome. In it, the writer, Mrs. Harriet Lewis, seized on the most picturesque and romantic traits in the Celtic character, and wove them into one of the most graceful of the Ledger romances.

The trials of Nora, "the Lady of Kildare," and her lovely cousin, Kathleen, the unexampled temptations to which they were exposed, their sufferings and their constancy, faith and fortitude in all situations keep the reader on the qui vive of excitement from the first paragraph in the story to the last line of the final chapter. None of Mrs. Lewis's novels has more freshness and brilliancy than "Lady Kildare," and there is none that has more contemporaneous interest.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--Sundered Hearts.

Author of "Lady Kildare," "Her Double Life," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



Mrs. Harriet Lewis, the daughter of a farmer living at Pen Yan, in the State of New York, was a woman of unquestioned genius. In her short life, she produced a considerable number of novels, all of a high average of merit. Her story, "Sundered Hearts," deals with a pathetic situation and is full of tender feeling. When two persons of loyal and trustful character, and holding to each other the most tender and intimate relations which can exist on earth, become estranged, there is a deep and solemn tragedy enacted, which affords to the novelist a subject of universal interest. This is the subject chosen by Mrs. Lewis in this novel, and the way in which she has treated it is replete with true feeling and profound interest. The plot of the novel is simple, and the reader feels from the beginning that the author is dealing with an experience which she is perfectly competent to describe, and the result is one of the most touching and satisfying of love stories.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--A Mad Betrothal; or,

Nadine's Vow. Author of "Ione," "Miss Middleton's Lover," etc. With Seven Illustrations by Arthur Lumley. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Miss Libbey's new novel is one of the most attractive books issued this year. It is intensely interesting, and shows remarkable power of grasping the strong features of situation, incident, plot and character, which mark the successful novelist.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--Parted by Fate; or, The Mystery of Black-Tor Lighthouse. Author of "Ione," "A Mad Betrothal," etc. With Fourteen Beautiful Illustrations by Harry C. Edwards. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

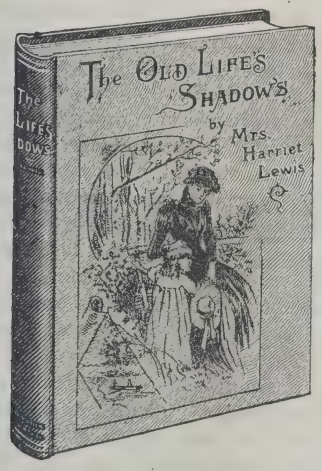
Miss Libbey's novels appeal to the young, and especially to young women. They are lively and sparkling, abounding in charming sentiment and with incidents connected with courtship and marriage. There are so many complications possible in the relations of lovers that invention would seem to be an endless chain. Miss Libbey's books are among the most popular publications of the present time, and "Parted by Fate" a good example of the very best of them.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--The Old Life's Shadows.

Author of "Lady Kildare," "Sundered Hearts," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



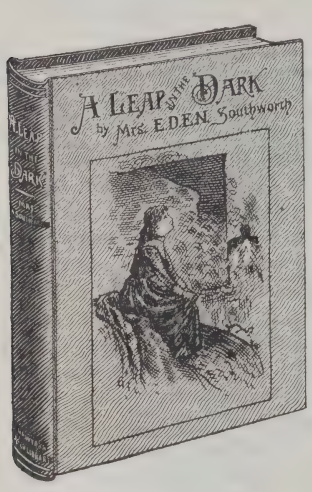
This is a novel of great power. The plot and incidents are well conceived and molded into a continuous narrative of immense interest. Nowhere has Mrs. Lewis shown greater skill and ingenuity than in the construction of this story. The scene of the story is Redruth Moor farm, in Lincolnshire, England, and its picturesque, century-old stone dwelling, which at the opening of the story is occupied by Miss Jacobea Redruth, a maiden lady of peculiar traits and masculine energy. Miss Jacob, as she is called by her neighbors, is one of those strong individualities which make their mark wherever they appear and whose doings are always full of interest. The other important characters in this story are a most charming woman and a handsome profligate. There are subordinate characters full of real life and marvelously well calculated to develop the plot and engage the interest of the reader.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--Ione. Author of "Miss Middleton's Lover," "A Mad Betrothal," "The Mystery of Black-Tor Lighthouse," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Miss Libbey is the favorite writer with thousands of her countrymen and women. She is an American, with all the national instincts and sentiments, and her stories are purely American in their characteristics and in their description of life and nature. Her stories possess the merit of being readable and pleasing. No one can take up a novel like "Ione" and put it down unread. In this respect, her readers owe her a debt of gratitude. She is never dull. "Ione" will be read, from beginning to end, with breathless interes

Southworth (Mrs. E. D. E. N.)--A Leap in the Dark.

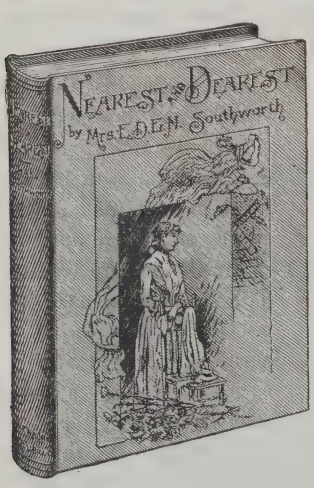
Author of "The Hidden Hand," "Unknown," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



"A Leap in the Dark" is a story drawn from real life, and written somewhat like an autobiography. This gives a vivid interest to the narrative. The story opens with an act of desperation, which many an unhappy girl has been tempted to commit, but of which the hand of love, in this instance, wards off the terrible consequences. From a very exciting and sensational opening, Mrs. Southworth proceeds to give one of the most interesting heart histories that it has ever been our fortune to read. There are fair weather friends and friends who stand the stress of every storm of fortune. Throughout the story there is a constant succession of incidents which move the feelings. There are pictures of Canadian life, and every one who has visited Montreal will recognize the scenes which are laid in that city. There is no lack of variety in it, and the characters range a large part of Europe and America. It is one of Mrs. Southworth's most interesting novels.

Southworth (Mrs. E. D. E. N.)--Nearest and Dearest.

Author of "The Hidden Hand," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



Mrs. Southworth's genius for picturesque description was never better illustrated than in this novel. The opening sentence prepares the reader for the narrative of the solitary and mysterious old house in which a tragic termination had been put to an old and honorable family. There is an element of mystery in the atmosphere of this story which piques curiosity and gratifies an instinct for the uncanny and supernatural which is almost universal. The mystery at the Wolf's Head Tavern might be used as a descriptive title of the novel. Like all of Mrs. Southworth's numerous works, this abounds in fine delineations of character and delightful humor. Her girls are charming, and "Nearest and Dearest" has for its heroine a lovely and winning sprite, little Nea, drawn so true to life that she seems to be personally familiar, to have been known to the reader in some previous state and condition of existence. The incidents of the story are unhackneyed and withal so novel and wonderful that they excite a feverish interest from the beginning to the end of the tale.

Ward (Herbert)--Five Years with the Congo

Cannibals. Magnificently Illustrated with many Full-Page Engravings and scores of Smaller Engravings, after Original Drawings made on the spot by the Author. Crown octavo, elegantly bound. Price, $3.00.

Sincerely Yours
Herbert Ward.

Herbert Ward's book is the record of five years spent with the most savage tribes of the far interior of Africa. It contains many facts, hitherto unknown, concerning the life, customs and superstitions of the cannibal races. It abounds with thrilling adventures, and the story it tells of risks and dangers encountered in strange places, and among wild and hostile people, is one of fascinating interest. A flood of light is thrown on the horrors and cruelties existing among the millions of Central Africa.

Mr. Ward's travels in Africa commenced in 1884, when he received an appointment in the service of the Congo Free State. He was a member of the Emin Bey Relief Expedition, and while in the service of Mr. H. M. Stanley, he made his memorable canoe journey of eleven hundred miles on the Congo.

His book contains entirely new matter about the tribes of Central Africa, will have permanent interest and value, and will be the standard work on that subject.

The Siberian Exiles.

By Col. Thos. W. Knox, Author of "The Boy Travellers," "Overland Through Asia," "Decisive Battles Since Waterloo," etc. Illustrated by Victor Perard. 8vo. Handsomely Bound in Cloth. Price, $2.00. Paper Cover, 50 Cents.

This is a novel of European and Asiatic Russia of our own times. Reading it, one would think that it belonged to the Middle Ages, when men and women were remorselessly snatched from their homes, sold into slavery, imprisoned, persecuted and killed at the caprice of local despots or robber-barons. It tells of the exile, without trial, of the head of a family, guiltless of any crime or treason, simply upon suspicion. All the exertions of his family and friends are powerless to save him from the terrors of the Siberian exile and the life of a state prisoner in the mines. Colonel Knox is familiar with the scenes and circumstances of the people about whom he writes. He has travelled in Siberia, visited the mines and prisons, seen the prisoners at work, and he gives a vivid picture of their life and sufferings. His novel is one of the most interesting and pathetic narratives which has ever been written of modern Russia, its government and people. The edition in cloth binding is a large, handsome volume with many illustrations. It is also published in the Ledger Library in paper covers, with five choice illustrations.

A SPECIAL OFFER

To Our Old Subscribers for One New Subscriber

FOR THE NEW YORK LEDGER.

The Ledger Binder will be given as a premium to any of our old subscribers who will send in one new subscriber with his or her renewal.

The great variety in the contents and the artistic excellence of the Ledger have created a large demand for this means of preserving the paper.

Full directions for inserting the paper accompany each binder; also a package of binder-pins for fastening the paper in.

On receipt of seventy-five cents, or the subscription of one new subscriber in addition to your own renewal, we will send the Ledger binder and a package of binder-pins, postpaid, to any address in this country or in Canada.

For Almost Half a Century the Leading Family Weekly:

THE NEW YORK LEDGER.

A Great Quantity and Variety of Reading.

The enlarged size of the Ledger in its new form enables the publishers to give such an extensive variety of reading matter that every number contains something of interest to every member of the household.

James Whitcomb Riley.

THE GOLDEN YEAR.....

Selections for the year round from the verse and prose of James Whitcomb Riley. Published in London. Compiled by Clara E. Laughlin.

Uniform with Mr. Riley's English volumes entitled "Old Fashioned Roses" and "A Child-World."—Dainty 16mo, printed on hand-made paper and very tastefully bound in blue and white cloth, gilt top, untrimmed, $1.75. For sale by all booksellers.

"The compiler of this little volume has ventured to see what could be done in the way of making, out of Mr. Riley's ten volumes of writings, one little "hand-book," such as might become a favorite and familiar friend to Riley-lovers everywhere."—Extract from Editor's Preface.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

A love-story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, sister of the King, and happening during the reign of His August Majesty, Henry VIII.

This romance deals with a pathetic and frequently recurring fact in history—the enforced marriage of princesses. We read of these marriages and pass them over as mere matters of fact, failing to comprehend the lingering years of agony they have caused some throbbing human heart.

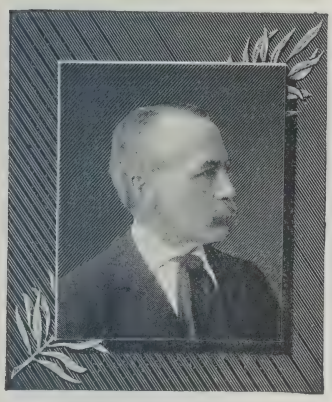
The author has attempted to handle this subject from its personal side, and at the same time give a partial view of English royal private life in the sixteenth century, written in modern English, for it certainly would not be read in the language of its time. This is evident by the quotations used in it from a chronicler of that period. . . . .

To write of knighthood and leave out knighthood's clanking symbols may seem almost incongruous, but, after all, the best and most neglected part of knighthood is its non-combative side. The only virtue in that most absurd of human institutions, mediæval chivalry, was, that out of it there now and then came a man who tempered its absurdities with a leaven of brains, and practiced its virtues without its follies.—Prefatory Note.

Crown, 8vo, cloth, ornamental, illustrated, $1.50.

TEMPLE TALKS. By Myron W. Reed.

In 1895 the Broadway Temple Association of Denver, Colo., was organized and incorporated. Mr. Reed was made its minister. The organization is non-sectarian and without ecclesiastical connections. The membership is open to all that believe in the "Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man," and the association has no by-laws, constitution or creed.



The present book is dedicated "To all Sorts and Conditions of Men." While very few will be disposed to find fault with the charming style and individuality of these essays or sermons, there may be many who will not agree with some of his assertions on socialistic and labor questions, in the discussion of which the eloquent preacher seems to be controlled rather by the heart than by the head. . . . . .

No one that knows Myron Reed will expect to find in this volume discussion of theological questions, or labored expositions of Biblical texts; they are rather essays, most of them on questions pertinent to the time, which are discussed on broad and catholic lines. Some of these have been printed before, but there is not one reproduced in this book which is not well worth reproduction, and which the reader will not be glad to possess in this permanent form. . . . . Mr. Reed's tribute to the memory of Pere Marquette is one of the really fine essays in the volume. Incidentally, he speaks against the foolishness that has changed the name of the place where Father Marquette died from "Marquette" to "Luddington," and he finds fault with much of the senseless nomenclature of American towns. He gives, in brief, the story of Marquette's life, and of his death. . . . . Very interesting, also, is his essay on "Emma Abbott," in which he tells of his first meeting with this famous singer in a small town in Wisconsin; of how she borrowed $10 from him; of how: "She sang the song sweet to soldiers—'Lorena.'" . . . One might go on quoting from these sermons for a long time without exhausting the good things they contain; indeed, one can read through the book, carefully and with thought, and then be ready to pick up another volume by the same author whenever he is ready to give you one.—Hector Fuller, in The Indianapolis News.

Thompson. Personal Recollections of Sixteen Presidents, from Washington to Lincoln.

By Colonel Richard W. Thompson, Ex-Secretary of the Navy. In two volumes: cloth, with eighteen full-page portraits, net..... 6 00

Col. Richard W. Thompson has known personally every President of the United States but the first two, Washington and John Adams, and also many leaders of the American Revolution, among them being Lafayette. He knew Jefferson sixty-seven years ago, and was present at the inauguration of Andrew Jackson. He was president of the famous Panama Commission, is the oldest living member of Congress but one, and during the administration of Hayes he entered the Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy. The work is remarkably full and accurate as to the origin and growth of political parties.

Voorhees. Forty Years of Oratory.

By Daniel W. Voorhees. Two large volumes, cloth, net..... 6 00

Edited by his sons and daughter with a brief sketch of his life by Judge Thomas B. Long, and fifty full page illustrations, portraits, fac-similes, etc. In two large volumes of nine hundred pages. Printed and bound in a manner commensurate with the dignity and value of the text.

The material embraced in the two large volumes has been selected with a view of indicating the exceptionally broad scope of his oratory and its finished and substantial character. It includes his defense of John E. Cook (Harper's Ferry), and other famous forensic addresses; many of his political and economic speeches exhibiting his views upon the public questions of the times, and his earnest and aggressive manner of making them known; his lecture "The Holy Sepulcher, or a Lawyer's View of the Divinity of Jesus of Nazareth," and all of his other work in the lecture field, some of it written shortly before his death.

FREDERIC W. FARRAR, D.D., F.R.S.,

ARCHDEACON OF WESTMINSTER:
LATE FELLOW OF TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE; CHAPLAIN TO THE QUEEN, AND TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Edersheim. Sketches of Jewish Social Life. By Rev. ALFRED EDERSHEIM, D. D., Ph. D. 12mo. Illustrated. 347 pages 1.25

It transports the reader back to the days of Christ; introduces him into the ordinary civil society, to mingle with men and women of that period, see them in their homes and families, learn their habits and manners, and follow them in their ordinary life; who they were, and what they knew, thought, and believed. A most fascinating book for those who are interested in the life of the Jews in the time of Christ.

Edersheim. Temple and its Services. By Rev. ALFRED EDERSHEIM, D. D., Ph. D. 12mo. Illustrated. 368 pages. 1.25

It takes you back to the Temple in the time of Christ, portrays the appearance and structure of the Temple, describes its ordinances and worshippers, the ministry of its priesthood, and the ritual of its services, its feasts, festivals, sacrifices, offerings, etc. A most valuable book for those interested in the history of the Temple.

Farrar. Social and Present Day Questions. By Right Rev. FREDERIC W. FARRAR, D.D., F. R. S. 8vo. 380 pages . 1.50

"This book is a mine of riches, discussing as it does such a variety of questions, and touching almost every phase of human life and conduct. Then the work is so charmingly done — the language so eloquent and elegant. . . . The biographical sketches in the book are models, and in those on Garfield, Garibaldi, Grant and Bright, he not only shows his admiration for struggling poverty (as in the case of Grant and Garfield), but he shows also democratic tendencies and a profound sympathy for American Institutions." — Gospel Advocate.

"No man who is at all interested in the social and sociological problems of these restless and unsettled times should fail to read and ponder the thoughtful and trustworthy statements with which this book is literally crowded from beginning to end." — Sentinel.

Courtier. Atlas and Bible Gazetteer. Contains 18 maps. By HENRY COURTIER, F.R.G.S. Large 4to. 100 pages. New and Revised Edition 1.50

Mitchell. Gesenius. Gesenius's Hebrew Grammar. Translated by BENJAMIN DAVIES, LL. D., from Rödiger's edition. Thoroughly revised and enlarged, on the basis of the latest edition of Prof. E. Kautzsch, and from other recent authorities, with full subject. Scripture, and Hebrew indexes. By EDWARD C. MITCHELL, D. D. 8vo. 556 pages. Cloth . 3.00

This is believed to be the most complete Hebrew Grammar now accessible to English Students. This Grammar is used at Chicago, Bangor, Andover, Hartford, Yale, Newton, Harvard, Drew, Auburn, Hamilton, Columbia, Richmond, Morgan Park, and other seminaries. Dr. Mitchell fully acknowledges his indebtedness to Kautzsch, to Davies, and to other writers, but fully establishes his rights to the gratitude of all Hebrew students for his own independent labors. His Hebrew index is astonishingly full, making the grammar a philological clavis for the explanation of difficult forms.

"This is probably the best grammar for the student of Hebrew, both to make a beginning at learning the language, and as a book of reference." — Examiner and Chronicle.

"It gives the substance of Hebrew grammatical learning brought down to our day." — The Churchman.

Mitchell. Davies. A Compendious and Complete Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon to the Old Testament. With an English-Hebrew index. By BENJAMIN DAVIES, PH. D., LL. D. Carefully revised by Edward C. Mitchell, D. D. 8vo. Cloth. 764 pages. 4.00

"It is in many respects an improvement upon either of the Lexicons now in use. . . . So far from being an abridgement, the present edition will be found to contain over a thousand more Hebrew words or forms than appear in Tregelles' or Robinson's Gesenius, besides incorporating into the body of the work all grammatical forms contained in Robinson's Analytical Appendix." — Editor's Preface.

"Unquestionably the most beautiful, comprehensive, convenient, and suggestive Lexicon of these languages." — The Greek Student.

"Davies' Lexicon is the one selected by Prof. John P. Peters of Philadelphia for his list of books 'suitable for a scholarly man.'" — Old Testament Student.

GENERAL LIST OF BOOKS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL AND HOME READING.

Aunt Milly's Childhood. By MARY A. PARRON. 16mo. Illustrated 192 pages 85

A story for girls, portraying the blessings that accompany the guiding of Providence in all our ways.

Away on the Waters. 16mo. Illustrated. 184 pages 80

A story of the sea; a boy's own book.

A Lucky Lover. By JOHN HABBERTON, author of "Helen's Babies," etc. 12mo. 306 pages 1.25

"When one lays down this book and begins to analyze his feelings, he finds that the pleasure he has had is not intellectual, not moral, not æsthetic merely, but the sum of all these,—the pleasure of having been in good company, among people who have brains, character, and taste; and this is one of the finest pleasures which any one can enjoy."—Pittsburgh Times.

Arnold Inglehurst. By EVELYN E. GREEN, author of "Dare Lorimer." 12 mo. Illustrated. 325 pages 1.25

There is a healthy moral tone of a very high order sustained throughout the book, and an easy grace and diction which make it highly commendable.

Annice Wynkoop, Artist. By ADELAIDE L. ROUSE, author of "The Deane Girls." 12mo. Illus. 325 pp. . 1.25

We consider this by far the best story Miss Rouse has yet written. It is a healthy book and is full of attractive reading.

All Aboard. By FANNIE E. NEWBERRY, author of "Bubbles." 12mo. Illustrated. 300 pages 1.25

Throughout this story there runs a strain of lofty thought, and the characters who move on its stage may be profitably studied. The story is well conceived and wrought out with excellent skill.

A Bachelor Maid and her Brother. By I. T. THURSTON, author of "Kent Fielding's Ventures." 12mo. Illustrated. 334 pages 1.25

This is a capital story, without a single dull chapter from beginning to end. It will interest boys as well as girls. The elemental virtues of honesty, courage, self-control and patience are splendidly reflected in the conduct of the brother and sister who are the central figures in the story. — Critic.

A Fight for Freedom. By GORDON STABLES, M. D. R. N. 12mo. Illustrated. 328 pages 1.25

A tale of the land of the Czar.

"The tyrant's voice is here
And the wail of slaverie;
But the sun of Freedom shines
In our ain countrie."

Bearing One Another's Burdens, or, Elsie's Promise. INCOGNITO. 16mo. Illustrated. 208 pages 85

"An admirable book, showing how beautifully and thoroughly the Christian duty of helping others may be carried out in daily life. — Zion's Advocate.

Bek's First Corner. By JENNIE M. DRINKWATER, author of "Rue's Helps," etc. 12mo. 382 pages 1.25

"Mrs. Drinkwater's books are extremely well written, free from every taint of sensational trickery, yet so intensely interesting that they draw the reader gently on from page to page with the attraction of earnestness, simplicity and purity." — Boston Critic.

Bells of Dumbarton, The. By LUCY L. MONTGOMERY. 16mo. Illustrated. 311 pages 1.25

Bernice, the Farmer's Daughter. By Mrs. C. E. K. DAVIS. 16mo. Illustrated. 283 pages 1.00

Bluebells. By EMMA MARSHALL, author of "Little Queenie." 12mo. 289 pp. . 1.00

A most interesting and instructive book. Emma Marshall is a most popular writer for children.

The scenes the author portrays of every-day life in the family have such a touch of reality, her delineation of character is so truthful, and her description of incident so graphic, that her stories appeal with power both to the heart and imagination.

Dorothy's Islands. By JENNIE M. DRINKWATER, author of "Second Best," etc. 12mo. 435 pages 1.25

The book opens with Dorothy, a child of nature made (her father says), of Nature and Poetry. The home in which we find her is on a lighthouse island. Through the years, with many experiences, she grows from an undisciplined, impetuous girl into a finished woman, and finds the island she had dreamed of in childhood in one of the Hawaiian group. The story with its many characters and incidents illustrates the motto on the title-page, "It is what we live rather than what we learn that we understand."

Dorothy's Vocation. By EVELYN E. GREEN. 12mo. Illustrated. 238 pages. 1.00

One of this popular author's latest books. The story brings out in striking contrast the difference between a young girl who guides her life by right principles and one who only lives to gratify herself. It is a grand book for girls, showing how faithfulness brings its own reward without taking away any of the light and pleasure of life, while fraud and sham are sooner or later found out.

Jack the Hunchback. By JAMES OTIS. Author of "Toby Tyler." 12mo. 289 pages 1.00

The principal characters in "Jack the Hunchback" are a hunchback who has been employed as cabin boy on board the ship Atlanta from Savannah to Bremen with cotton and turpentine, and Aunt Nancy, a tiny spinster living alone on the coast of Maine.

Blown off her course, the ship is near Wood Island, when an explosion caused by the gases arising from the turpentine, which had been stored in red oak barrels, induces the crew to believe the vessel is on fire.

The captain's wife and infant son are on board. At the first show of danger the latter, in charge of the cabin-boy, is put into a boat which has been hastily lowered, and while the captain's wife is hurriedly gathering up such articles as may be needed, the boat goes adrift.

The true nature of the trouble is finally ascertained; but in the mean while the little craft has disappeared. The ship cruises in the vicinity until sunset, when she puts into Portland, and, since the vessel must proceed on her voyage without delay, the captain's wife disembarks in the hope of finding her child. Advertisements are inserted in the newspapers, and the Revenue cutter puts to sea in search of the missing boat.

Meanwhile, the hunchback and the baby have drifted ashore at Scarboro, where they are found by a penurious farmer who wishes to keep the boat, but is not willing to give even a temporary home to the children. He proposes to send them to the farm for paupers, and the hunchback, in order to save his little charge from such ignominy, runs away with no other idea save to reach the captain's home in New York by walking.

Night comes on after he has travelled five or six miles, and he applies for shelter at the nearest house, which is occupied by a tiny maiden lady with a predilection for cleanliness and an aversion for boys. She allows them to remain until morning, and by that time the hunchback has won her heart.

Jack's experiences with the "summer boarders," an encounter with what Aunt Nancy supposes to be burglars, and his surprise and final admiration at the daily prayers offered by Aunt Nancy as well as her sorrow because of the part she acted when the farmer called, serve to make up the body of the story.

The hunchback at last concludes to ease Aunt Nancy's mind, even at the expense of seeing Louis taken to the "poor farm;" and he walks back to Scarboro, where he confesses to the farmer, but only to learn of the steps taken by Louis' mother.

As a matter of course, this ends all trouble, and Jack has the satisfaction of seeing Louis finally in his mother's arms, after which he returns to Aunt Nancy, who formally adopts him.

Preacher's Daughter. By AMELIA E. BARR, author of "Bow of Orange Ribbon." 12mo. 289 pages 1.25

"It is hardly necessary to say anything in commendation of a story from the pen of this popular writer, so widely and well known are her books by the reading public. 'The Preacher's Daughter,' however, it may be said, is among the best and most interesting of all her books, and will be read with satisfaction and delight. The story is one of English domestic life, and is at once strong and masterly in conception, and graceful and artistic in its development and literary aspect. The characters are well drawn and natural to the life, while, as in all her books, the lessons enforced are wholesome and valuable." — Christian at Work.

BOOKS IN SETS, FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARIES AND HOME READING.

Particular Notice:

Every volume in the following list has been carefully read and approved by competent persons appointed for that purpose. In our endeavor to obtain the very best undenominational list of books published, the following questions have been carefully considered: —

Is the literary style of each book good?

Is it instructive and interesting?

Is its religious teaching positive and sound in doctrine, moral and religious sentiment, as held and taught by the Church?

To the above questions we emphatically answer in the affirmative; and with the particular care we have exerted in this respect, we feel confident that nothing objectionable can be found, but, on the contrary, that these books will prove particularly interesting, instructive, and elevating. They are written by authors well known as moral and educational writers, and we will consider it a favor if you will return to us any book on this list not wholly satisfactory on account of its character.

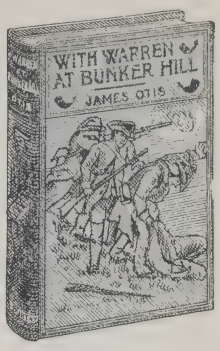
EXTRA ILLUSTRATED.



In this series of historical stories each one is complete in itself, yet taken together they form one of the most entertaining histories of the revolution. The utmost care has been exercised to have them historically correct, and so much of romance as is used to make the tales stirring is subordinated to the facts. They have been written with the distinct purpose of portraying the struggle for liberty in romantic form, and while being in the highest degree interesting stories for the young, are at the same time especially instructive, inasmuch as the greatest possible amount of information is given.

The Young Patriot Series.

Uniform Cloth Binding. Extra Illustrated.

This series of historical stories are taken from the minor incidents of the Revolutionary War, scenes wherein boys are prominent characters being selected. They are the romance of history, vigorously told, with careful fidelity to picturing the home-life during Colonial days, and accurate in every particular, wherein mention is made of movement of troops, or the doings of noted citizens. The purpose is to elaborate those adventures to which but little space is usually given by historians.

THE CALDWELL EDITIONS

THE GENTLEMAN'S LIBRARY

LIMITED TO 450 NUMBERED COPIES

The Gentleman's Library will contain the gems of the literature of all ages, especially selected with a view to sumptuous illustration. The work of the most famous artists of the past and present times will be found in its various volumes, selected, reproduced and printed under the direct supervision of Mr. G. W. H. Ritchie, ensuring the very highest standard of excellence.

There will be from 12 to 20 illustrations in each volume, consisting of Etchings, Steel Engravings, and Photogravures printed on Dickinson's hand-made buff etching paper, peculiarly adapted for producing the most artistic results. Neither pains nor expense will be spared in making The Gentleman's Library the most beautifully illustrated series of classics extant.

There will be no reissue of any of this series, no matter what the demand may be, and subscriptions for the entire series will be received and will take precedence over those for single numbers only. Subscribers to the entire series can have their names registered and the same number allotted to them throughout.

The paper selected for the text is the "Enfield Hand-made," which, combined with large type, well spaced, and the best presswork obtainable, will produce a volume acceptable to the most exacting bibliophile.

The volumes will be bound in a royal purple cloth, made especially for the series, and embellished on back and side with a handsome and appropriate design in gold, rich and artistic, edges entirely untrimmed, with the exception of the tops of burnished gold.

Although the size will be a square octavo, the lightness of the hand-made paper admits of its being read without tiring the hand. The price . . $2.00 net, per volume.

The following numbers are now published, and others in preparation:

Memoirs of Count De Grammont, by Anthony Hamilton .	Edited by Sir Walter Scott
Romola	George Eliot

THE CALDWELL EDITIONS

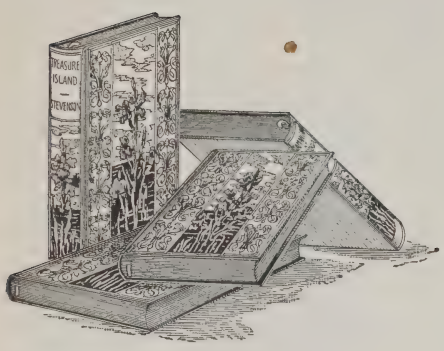
THE DE NOVO LIBRARY

1898 Edition. 125 Titles

Small Duodecimo, with Illustrations in Water-color Tints

The New Shaped Handy Volume



All of the volumes in this New Series of Handy Volume Classics are printed on an extra fine laid paper, with text illustrations, or full-page half-tone illustrations in water-color tints on coated paper. Each volume has, in addition, a handsome illuminated title-page and silk ribbon book-mark. Uniformly bound in a dark green linen cloth made especially for the series, stamped in gold and various colored inks, from a unique and original design. The new shape of this "Handy Volume" more fully combines all that the name implies than any other Handy Volume Series ever issued. Each in a printed wrapper. Price, 50 cents

THE EMPYREAL EDITION

Bound in Bancroft linen, flat backs, gilt tops, stamped with a simple yet effective design in gold, each volume boxed.

Price, 75 cents

THE CALDWELL EDITIONS

HYPNOTISM

Its Facts, Theories, and Related Phenomena, with Explanatory Anecdotes, Description, and Reminiscences

By CARL SEXTUS

A new and revised edition of this recognized authority of a very interesting science. The work contains everything explanatory to Hypnotism and its related phenomena; and that the contents of the book may the more easily be understood, it is profusely illustrated with originally designed illustrations. One volume, large 12mo, cloth, gilt top.

Price, $1.50

EXTRACTS FROM PRESS OPINIONS

The clearest, most comprehensive, and in every way the best and most extensive treatise on "Hypnotism" for popular reading has been prepared by Carl Sextus, who for the past two or three years has confused and delighted the people of Chicago with his experiments in it. There is much in the book to interest investigators. The writer is a man who has given the subject undivided attention, whose fame has spread far and wide for the work he has done, and he tries, so far as he can, to explain everything connected with the phenomena. The book is full of anecdotes and reminiscences. It was written more for the masses than for the physician. — New York World.

An excellent treatise on hypnotism is Carl Sextus's work on the subject, which has been well received by those interested. The chapter on somnambulism is extremely interesting.

There is everything in the book to interest investigators. The writer is a man who has given the subject undivided attention. As he states in his preface, he has "done his best to explain, in as clear and significant a manner as he can, everything connected with the phenomena mentioned." Angels can do no more, and Mr. Sextus's book bears witness to his thoroughness, earnestness, and sincerity. — Chicago Herald.

The author of this most interesting work brings out clearly the salient features of hypnotism, telepathy, clairvoyance, sleep walking, and magnetism. — San Francisco Chronicle.

Mr. Sextus's work can be confidently commended as a mine of interesting information. — Detroit Free Press.

"Hypnotism," by Carl Sextus, is plainly the result of years of study and practice by one who both theoretically and practically is familiar with this interesting subject. — Philadelphia Press.

Another and very interesting addition to the library of works on hypnotism, is a book by Carl Sextus on that subject. The side issues of hypnotism, somnambulism and the like, are skilfully handled. — Chicago Evening Post.

"WINDSOR CASTLE.

"Sir Henry Ponsonby is commanded by the Queen to thank Messrs. Cassell for the volumes of the NATIONAL LIBRARY which they have been kind enough to forward to Her Majesty. The Queen was much pleased with this selection of books, which are published at so small a price."

"THE NATIONAL LIBRARY appears to constitute a new and marked advance in the great business of cheap publication."—W. E. GLADSTONE.

THE ATHENÆUM says:—"CASSELL'S NATIONAL LIBRARY is a wonderfu bargain. No greater feat has been accomplished by any of our publishers during the last quarter of a century."

"The multiplication of good and cheap books, such as the masterpieces collected in CASSELL'S NATIONAL LIBRARY, has had a most powerful effect on the reading of multitudes of workmen, who now show an even greater interest in the problem of literature than in the problems of science."—The Times.

"What a boon would be the perusal of, say, CASSELL'S NATIONAL LIBRARY alone! We hear a good deal about the hundred best books. Here we have a hundred best books, which may be bought for less than a couple of pounds at almost any bookseller's."—Illustrated London News.

"The small books belonging to CASSELL'S NATIONAL LIBRARY ought to find favour in the eyes of those who can read in a cab, in a coach, in a train, or even walking. As to a man running and reading, the thing's almost impossible, and whoever saw a man on horseback reading a book, except in an old print of 'Doctor Syntax'? The old proverb was 'Every Englishman's house is his castle'; in future this will be 'Every Englishman's house has his Cassell.'"—Punch.

"It is one of the most gratifying signs of the times to find a firm with such a deservedly high reputation as that of Cassell and Company bringing our great authors within reach of all classes of the people by issuing these cheap volumes. Every well-wisher to the spread of education will hope to see the NATIONAL LIBRARY receive a welcome far in excess of the utmost anticipations of the enterprising publishers."—Daily Chronicle.

THE MAGAZINE OF ART.

Price, 35 cents, monthly; $3.50 per year.

THE MAGAZINE OF ART continues to hold a unique place at the head of all serials devoted to Art in any country.

It contains interesting and important papers by specialists upon a great variety of art topics. Ancient, mediæval, and particularly modern art, in their various branches—painting, engraving, architecture tapestry, etc.—are treated in ample detail, and also art as applied in manufactures, etc.

Its monthly news, its specially illustrated articles on the Art of the Day, are of peculiar value to all who desire the latest and most important information on these subjects.

The illustrations, which are both numerous and of the very highest order, include original photogravures, pictures in colors, and choice engravings from famous paintings and from original drawings by the first artists of the day.

In short, the MAGAZINE OF ART aims to maintain, in every department, the highest degree of literary and artistic excellence.

CASSELL'S MAGAZINE.

Price, 15 cents, monthly; $1.50 per year.

CASSELL'S MAGAZINE has been enlarged to 112 pages, and contains serial and short stories of stirring interest, articles, sketches, etc., by leading writers of the day. Its numerous illustrations are from drawings by well-known artists and from photographs.

THE QUIVER.

Price, 15 cents, monthly; $1.50 per year.

The large circulation of THE QUIVER among English-speaking people everywhere is sufficient evidence of its popularity. Its corps of able contributors numbers many names of world-wide repute. While mainly devoted to "Sunday Reading," THE QUIVER offers a chaste selection of miscellaneous articles, short stories, serials, poetry, music, etc. etc., admirably adapted to occupy a leisure hour on any and every day of the week. The illustrations are both numerous and excellent.

LITTLE FOLKS.

Price, 15 cents, monthly; $1.50 per year.

Each part contains 80 pages of letterpress, affording bright reading for the little ones, and a Colored Frontispiece. It is well illustrated, and many of the pages are printed in colors.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE CENTURY CO.

AUTUMN OF 1898

·COPYRIGHT 1894 BY THE CENTURY CO·

UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

NEW BOOKS.

Only retail prices are given here, and unless otherwise specified these are for copies in cloth binding.

THE ADVENTURES OF FRANÇOIS.

By Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

With fifteen illustrations by André Castaigne. This novel, following the author's wonderfully successful "Hugh Wynne," traces the career of a "Foundling, Thief, Juggler, and Fencing-Master, During the French Revolution." It is crowded full of adventure, and is a vivid picture of life during one of the most thrilling episodes of modern times. The scene shifts from Paris to the provinces, following the wanderings of the erratic hero. Historic figures live again in the pages, and the great drama of the Revolution is handled with masterly power. The story is romantic and picturesque, and is marked by keen wit and strong character delineation. The brilliant pencil of Castaigne is seen to admirable advantage in the illustrations. 12mo, about 300 pages, price, $1.50.

GOOD AMERICANS.

By Mrs. Burton Harrison.

Frontispiece by C. Allan Gilbert. A story of New York society, by the author of "The Anglomaniacs," "Sweet Bells Out of Tune," and other popular novels. While there are no actual portraits, many familiar types of character are strongly portrayed. The scene is laid mainly in New York, but it also shifts to New England and the Orient. The interest is sustained throughout, and the dialogue is crisp and bright. 12mo, 220 pages, price, $1.25.

GALLOPS.

By David Gray.

A collection of short stories in which a new writer sounds a brand-new note in American fiction. They are all clear-cut, crisp, and piquant sketches of life and character in a circle of society where steeple-chasing and cross-country riding are the main diversions. "The Parish of St. Thomas Equinus," "The Fence-Breakers' League," and "The Ride of His Life" are some of the stories. The book of all others for those who love the horse. 16mo, about 225 pages, price, $1.25.

THE WORLD'S ROUGH HAND.

By H. Phelps Whitmarsh.

A remarkably graphic and candid account of adventure at the antipodes. The author was in turn a sailor, a "sundowner," or tramp, a mine-owner, a laborer, a beach-comber, and a pearl-diver, and he writes with absolute frankness and rare literary charm about his varied experiences. Mr. Whitmarsh has done for the modern adventurer what Dana did for the merchant sailor, in "Two Years Before the Mast." 12mo, about 250 pages, price, $1.25.

MADAME BUTTERFLY.

By John Luther Long.

A collection of five stories about Japan. The author has succeeded in transferring to paper the spirit and glamor of life in the Sunrise Kingdom. His heroines are so bewitching and piquant that the reader can well understand the fever Japonica that seizes Occidental visitors. The stories are full of vivid local color. 16mo, about 225 pages. With frontispiece in tint, specially designed title-page, and decorated cover in Japanese style. Price, $1.25.

A PRIMER OF HERALDRY FOR AMERICANS.

By Edward S. Holden.

With many illustrations. A clear and concise hand-book on a neglected subject, a knowledge of which is necessary for the correct understanding of history and architecture. The growth of hereditary patriotic societies gives a new interest to heraldry in America, and specially applicable to these societies are the author's chapters on Emblems, Flags, Seals, Arms, Badges, etc. The chapter, "How to Trace a Pedigree," will prove of great value to many Americans. Twenty-four plates contain more than a hundred illustrative figures. 16mo, 195 pages, price, $1.00.

OUR CONVERSATIONAL CIRCLE.

By Agnes H. Morton.

With an introduction by Hamilton Wright Mabie. A familiar essay on the art of conversation, put in a clever and attractive form. It is full of useful hints and will do much to to stimulate intelligent discussion in social circles. Some of the subjects treated are "The Choice of Topics," "The Adaptation of Topics," "Some Essentials of an Agreeable Style," etc. 16mo, about 225 pages, $1.25.

HOME ECONOMICS.

By Maria Parloa.

With 52 illustrations. A guide to household management, including the proper treatment of the materials entering into the construction and the furnishing of the house. It covers every subject that engages the attention of the careful housewife, and bristles with suggestions for saving money and economizing time. Mrs. Parloa is one of the best known and most capable writers on household affairs, and she treats her subject in a lucid and common-sense manner. The book should find a place in every household, as it will do much to lighten the routine of daily work. The illustrations add much to the value of the book. 12mo, about 400 pages, price, $1.50.

EDUCATIONAL REFORM.

By Charles W. Eliot,

President of Harvard University. A companion volume to President Eliot's "American Contributions to Civilization." A collection of papers and addresses by one of the foremost of educators on the great modern problems in educational reform. Among the topics treated are "Teachers' Tenure of Office," "The Gap Between Common Schools and Colleges," "Shortening and Enriching the Grammar School Course," "Undesirable and Desirable Uniformity in Schools," etc., etc. A book that will become a standard in pedagogics. Octavo, 418 pages, price, $2.00.

DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA.

By Alexis De Tocqueville.

With an introduction by President DANIEL C. GILMAN, of Johns Hopkins University. No one who cares to understand American institutions can neglect this great work, which is a firmly established classic. For the first time it is now issued in adequate form, and President Gilman has contributed an admirable introductory essay. A full index adds to the usefulness of the work. As a frontispiece there is given the only portrait of de Tocqueville that has received the endorsement of his family. In two volumes, octavo, 559 and 536 pages, price, $5.00.

POOR RICHARD'S ALMANACK.

By Dr. Benjamin Franklin.

Edited by BENJAMIN E. SMITH. The first and one of the greatest of American classics has been added to the Thumb-Nail Series. As these dainty little books are largely used for gifts, the present form of Dr. Franklin's work is most appropriate. With frontispiece portrait of Franklin, and facsimile of the first number of the Almanack (for the year 1733) made from the only copy known to be in existence. Size 5½ x 3 inches, about 175 pages. In full leather, richly stamped, price, $1.00.

THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH.

By Charles Dickens.

With an introduction by JOSEPH JEFFERSON. Frontispiece by C. M. Relyea. An appropriate form for one of the most popular of classics. Mr. Jefferson, whose introduction is in a delightfully sympathetic vein, has also made this story a classic of the stage. Issued in the beautiful Thumb-Nail Series, size 5½ x 3 inches, bound in full stamped leather, price $1.00.

THE CASTING AWAY OF MRS. LECKS AND MRS. ALESHINE.

By Frank R. Stockton.

A new illustrated edition. This is one of the most widely known and most characteristic of all Mr. Stockton's works. It now appears printed from entirely new plates, and with the addition of a large number of illustrations drawn especially for it by Frederick Dorr Steele. The story is delightful in its humor, and the situations are quaint and ludicrous to a degree. Mr. Steele's pictures form an admirable and fitting complement to the text. The book is complete in itself, containing also the sequel, "The Dusantes." 12mo, 300 pages, $1.50.

FAR IN THE FOREST.

By Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

A new edition of one of the best of Dr. Mitchell's novels. It is a story of life in the forests of Northern Pennsylvania many years ago. The plot is vigorous, exciting, and unhackneyed, and the book is full of admirable character sketches. For this edition Dr. Mitchell has revised the story and written an additional chapter. 12mo, 302 pages, price, $1.50.

WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE.

By James Bryce.

The latest and best of all reviews of Mr. Gladstone's career. Mr. Bryce has not filled his pages with biographical details, but has given instead a complete, frank, and impartial analysis of Mr. Gladstone's character. There have been many splendid eulogies of Gladstone, but longer than any of these will endure such a critical and appreciative tribute as Mr. Bryce has given to his chieftain. 12mo, 104 pages, with portrait, price $1.00.

DOWN DURLEY LANE.

By Virginia Woodward Cloud.

A gallery of delightful pictures by Reginald Birch, illustrating a score of ballads, written with quaint humor and in a true old-time spirit. The verses are in the same vein as the ballads of Cowper and Goldsmith, and so make appeal to boys and girls who enjoy "John Gilpin" and the "Mad Dog." They will be read with equal delight by older people who are still young in spirit. Mr. Birch has found true inspiration in the verses. While faithful interpretations of the humor of the ballads, the pictures are never without their own shrewd pictorial comment and emphasis. Exquisitely printed in two colors. Square octavo, about 125 pages, with pictured cloth cover, price, $1.50.

TWO BIDDICUT BOYS.

By J. T. Trowbridge.

With sixteen illustrations by W. A. Rogers. For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Trowbridge has been a favorite juvenile writer. The secret of his success is that he knows boy nature thoroughly. This is a story of two interesting boys and their exciting search for a swindler and his wonderful trick dog, that was trained to run away from those who purchased him. The plot is novel and adequate, and the story holds one's attention throughout. 12mo, 286 pages, $1.50.

THROUGH THE EARTH.

By Clement Fezandié.

With illustrations by William A. Mackay. A fairy tale of science of the Jules Verne order. A scientist succeeds in boring a hole through the earth, and a boy is sent through this tunnel in a cigar-shaped car. The story is based on the latest scientific researches, and the narrative is clever and exciting. An air of probability is preserved throughout. It has been rewritten and greatly enlarged since its serial publication. 12mo, about 250 pages, price, $1.50.

THE LAKERIM ATHLETIC CLUB.

By Rupert Hughes.

Twenty illustrations by C. M. Relyea. A lively story for boys. Twelve plucky lads organize an athletic club and have a series of contests with rival school teams. They round out a full year of seasonable sports including baseball, rowing, football, hockey, bicycling, and field and track contests. The book is not a mere catalogue of sports, however, for the club members are "real boys," full of fun and frolic. 12mo, about 275 pages, price, $1.50.

THE BOOK OF THE OCEAN.

By Ernest Ingersoll.

The indefinable charm and mystery of the ocean inspired and pervades this handsomely illustrated volume. It has a timely interest, when the exploits of American sailors in home and foreign waters are centering the attention of the world on the ocean. Mr. Ingersoll tells in language that can readily be comprehended by young people, about the ocean and its origin; waves, tides, and currents; the building of ships, early voyages and explorations, war-ships and naval battles, etc. Packed full of information, it reads like a story book. Square octavo, about 275 pages, price, $1.50.

DENISE AND NED TOODLES.

By Mrs. Gabrielle E. Jackson.

With sixteen illustrations by C. M. Relyea. One of the rarities in juvenile fiction—a successful story for girls. It tells of a full year in the life of a merry little maid and her pets, mainly the pony, "Ned Toodles." Denise is a very light-hearted child, and her pranks and those of her playmates give plenty of variety to the book. 12mo, about 240 pages, price, $1.25.

BOUND VOLUMES OF ST. NICHOLAS.

The beautifully illustrated volumes of this the greatest of all children's magazines, full of stories, serial and short, articles, poems, and jingles. Containing more than half a dozen ordinary juvenile books. Large 8vo, 1000 pages and 1000 pictures, in two parts, price $4.00.

The Surgery of the Pancreas, as based upon experiments and clinical researches. V. An experimental contribution to Intestinal Surgery, with special reference to the treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. VI. Rectal Insufflation of Hydrogen Gas as an Infallible Test in the Diagnosis of Visceral Injury of the Gastro-Intestinal Canal in Penetrating Wounds of the Abdomen. Complete in one handsome volume. 8vo. Cloth, $2.50 net.

The different parts of this volume have been published from time to time in Transactions of the American Surgical Association, and in periodicals not readily accessible to the majority of the medical profession. In response to a very general demand they have been revised by the author, and published in a convenient sized volume, carefully indexed.

INTESTINAL SURGERY. Contents—The Surgical Treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. II. An experimental contribution to Intestinal Surgery, with special reference to the treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. III. Rectal Insufflation of Hydrogen Gas as an Infallible Test in the Diagnosis of Visceral Injury of the Gastro-Intestinal Canal in Penetrating Wounds of the Abdomen. IV. Report of Cases. One handsome volume. 8vo. Cloth, $1.25 net.

The most striking, the most valuable of Senn's original conceptions and applications are:

1. The uses of gaseous enemata both for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes.
2. Lateral approximation by decalcified bone plates.
3. The application of omental graftsin abdominal surgery; and
4. The mechanical irritation of peritoneal surfaces between which it is desired that adhesion should take place.

The greatest value of Senn's work is its suggestivenesss. He has set surgeons in all countries to thinking and planning. His methods as such may none of them be permanent, but he has given an impetus to abdominal surgery the outcome of which none can foresee, but which is full of promise. He is in the very van of progress, a leader who is not infallible, but who has earned by hard work and abilitv the enviable place he holds in the scientific world.—The American Journal of Medical Science.

Se basant sur ce fait que la classification des verbes en quatre conjugaisons, établie en imitation de la conjugaison latine, n'est nullement nécessaire pour les verbes français, l'auteur divise hardiment ceux-ci en deux conjugaisons seulement. Par ce moyen, il a pu rendre claire et facile cette partie si importante de la grammaire et obtenir des résultats remarquables, consacrés par une expérience de vingt ans.

DR. SAUVEUR'S

EDUCATIONAL WORKS.

"The HENESS-SAUVEUR SYSTEM of teaching the Languages (the Natural Method) differs from that usually followed, in that the pupil learns the language which he undertakes to acquire without the aid of grammar or dictionary, purely as a spoken language, and much in the same way that a child would learn it. English is banished from the class-room; the time is used in conversation beginning with such simple elements as the familiar objects in the room may afford, and the vocabulary is formed by degrees, every day fixing in the memory the words already learned and adding others, until, in a surprisingly short time, the learner finds himself carrying on some animated discussion, of limited range to be sure at first, but with a sufficient command of his new language for the purpose. Pronunciation is acquired, and the ear formed at the same time, without the confusion which the written form of French or German is apt to create at first."—The Nation.

"You are striking at the root of the evil by showing how to teach, and by inspiring with your example, as well as with your books, many most intelligent persons to begin on a new basis the work of instruction."—Pres. D. C. GILMAN.

"I admire extremely all that I have seen of your system."—F. J. CHILD, Harvard College.

"I believe that the common methods of teaching languages, ancient or modern, to children and young persons need to be profoundly changed, and changed in the direction of your 'Natural Method.'"—Pres. CHARLES W. ELIOT.

"CAMBRIDGE, November, 1877.

"The HENESS-SAUVEUR SYSTEM is the rational way to lead the pupil to understand, speak, read, and write a foreign tongue. I would call it the Natural Method. In the hands of a spirited teacher it produces marvellous results, enabling the reader to think and express himself unconsciously in the new language he is acquiring, and to appreciate its genius and feel its niceties.

"I think it can be carried out even in the largest classes; it is so good and simple that I hope it will be fairly tried by teachers of languages. I desire to say this because I was never convinced of its practicability and excellence myself until I tried it.

"It is not superficial. On the contrary, I know of no system that calls up more mental activity in both teacher and pupil. There is nothing mechanical or merely formal in it. It lends itself to the highest teaching. Even the grammatical knowledge imparted by this method is broader than is given by any other.

"As I understand it, there is no good thing in the old system which it does not embrace, if brought in at the proper time, the fundamental idea being that, from the start, the language to be taught must be used as the only medium of instruction. The instructor proceeds by induction from the concrete to the abstract, and so connects word and phrase with the things or ideas they express that the pupil rapidly learns the use of a new instrument for expressing his thoughts by the same process by which he acquired his vernacular tongue.

"FERDINAND BÔCHER,

"Prof. of Modern Languages in Harvard College."

"PARIS, le 14 Janvier, 1878
"Rue d'Assas, No. 44.

"MONSIEUR: J'ai reçu vos deux volumes, Entretiens sur la Grammaire et Causeries avec mes Elèves.

"Je vous en remercie. J'en ai pris connaissance avec intérêt. Je suis d'accord avec vous sur l'utilité d'apprendre la langue d'abord, et de ne venir à la grammaire que subséquemment. Par ce procédé, la grammaire cesse d'être une abstraction difficile à concevoir, difficile à appliquer. Mise à sa place, elle devient à la fois plus facile, plus lumineuse, et plus féconde.

"La méthode de s'appuyer plus sur les bons écrivains que sur les grammairiens me paraît digne de tout éloge. Il est vrai qu'en ceci je ne puis être que partial; car c'est cette méthode que j'ai suivie dans mon Dictionnaire de la langue française.

"Vos chapitres sur le participe passé et sur le subjonctif ont attiré particulièrement mon attention. Vous avez beaucoup facilité la théorie et la pratique du premier. Quant au second, qui comporte tant de nuances, vous êtes un guide excellent pour toutes ces délicatesses de langage.

"Dans ce qu'on lit, vous trouverez naturel que l'on cherche son profit particulier. Ce profit particulier a été pour moi dans une série d'observations et de discussions auxquelles vous avez été conduit en examinant certains articles de mon Dictionnaire. Je ne hais pas de me voir critiqué, quand la critique est fructueuse. Je suis bien vieux, et ne puis songer à aucun travail de révision; mais mes successeurs, si j'en ai, feront bien d'extraire de votre livre ce qui me concerne, afin de le discuter et de l'approprier.

"Agréez, monsieur, l'assurance de ma haute considération.

"E. LITTRÉ."

TEXT-BOOKS.

I.—FRENCH.

Introduction to the Teaching of the Living Languages. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

De l'Enseignement des Langues Vivantes. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

No one ought to teach the Natural Method without getting thoroughly imbued with the contents of these little works. They will interest not pupils only, but all teachers and students of any language. As the works of the masters have preceded grammars, so should the study of the masters precede the study of grammar. After the language is well known, the study of grammar becomes a work of intelligence, full of serious enjoyment : before that time it is useless.

Causeries avec les Enfants. 12mo, $1.25.

"Je recommande toute spécialement à l'attention des professeurs les Causeries avec les enfants Elles présentent une application rigoureuse de la méthode d'enseignement décrite dans ma brochure, Introduction to the Teaching of Living Languages. Je n'ai pas perdu de vue un instant que je destinais le livre aux enfants, et aussi aux mères qui voudront enseigner elles-mêmes la langue française à leurs fils et à leurs filles.

"La conversation dans les Causeries avec les enfants est très-facile et soigneusement graduée. Le principe capital de la méthode est qu'il faut aller sans cesse du connu à l'inconnu, faisant comprendre les mots nouveaux par ceux que l'élève a déjà acquis, et sans jamais demander aucun secours à la langue anglaise. Ce principe a été appliqué dans le présent ouvrage avec l'attention la plus grande. Aussi, je le considère comme éminemment propre à introduire mes collègues dans la pratique de l'enseignement."

Petites Causeries. 12mo, $1.25.

The Petites Causeries advances a step farther in conversation, taking up many of the fables of La Fontaine, and entering into deeper and more thoughtful conversation upon them and other topics of absorbing interest. There is not a chapter but is full of fascination even to the wisest. There is no talking by rule for the sake simply of becoming learned ; but everything is natural, graceful, and beautiful. The author says : "Je les destine tout particulièrement aux premières classes des Écoles supériures (High Schools) et aux établissements qui font de l'enseignement du français une portion importante de leurs études."

La Parole Francaise. By L. SAUVEUR and A. VAN DAELL. 12mo, $1.

"Quelles sont les personnes qui doivent employer ce livre? Celles-là qui s'intéressent peu à la littérature et qui étudient le français pour le parler seulement dans la société de tout le monde, pour voyager en France et en Europe, pour aller causer à Paris de ce dont on s'entretient tous les jours, là comme ici, comme partout. Le livre peut servir aussi aux élèves qui étudient les Petites Causeries : il ajoutera à leur vocabulaire un autre vocabulaire non moins riche que le premier et presque indispensable."

Causeries avec mes Eleves. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

A work of a higher grade for older students, who are of proper age to enter into conversation upon all topics—literature, art, politics, religion, and any theme of social interest. The Causeries avec mes Elèves is not only a book of the Natural Method, it is much more ; its wealth of words, of expressions, of thoughts, makes of it the most perfect READER that a teacher might wish for. It ought thus to find its way into every school, and be the book of all methods. The very genius of France is alive in all its pages.

"For many of his chapters, Dr. Sauveur takes some fable from La Fontaine as his theme, recites and comments upon it, illustrates it by historical reference, or digresses to some inviting collateral topic—all, be it understood, in question and answer, skilfully and sometimes even artistically managed. Molière, Pascal, a humorous passage or two from Töpffer, in the same way supply the text for chapters, which give variety and freshness to what is usually a monotonous and dry road."—The Nation.

Contes Merveilleux. 12mo, $1.50.

A book well adapted to give the fluent use of conversation, and containing a wealth of words.

Fables de la Fontaine, avec notes. $1.50.

In this selection of masterpieces, in the accompanying notes, and in the choice of extracts from different authors, expressing ideas in relation with the fables, we find the ideal conversation-book for intelligent classes. The great fabulist has found an exponent who loves and understands him and has brought him nearer to us.

Entretiens sur la Grammaire. 12mo, $1.75.

After Littré's letter it is unnecessary to write another word in praise of the most original of all French Grammars.

Grammaire Francaise pour les Anglais. 12mo, $1.50.

This work has a unique feature and one that makes it a great improvement upon any of its predecessors : it is really written for people of English tongue, which means that it encounters and overcomes those special difficulties which Americans dread when they undertake to study French. The book is no reproduction of well-known and insufficient rules ; it is original, personal, and founded on the class-room experience of one whose powers of observation and faculty of imparting knowledge have been admired by the greatest educators of this country. Dr. Sauveur says in his Preface : " C'est aux personnes de langue anglaise, que le livre est destiné. Aussi me suis-je efforcé de ne jamais oublier que ceux qui étudieront ma grammaire ne sont pas français, qu'ils ignorent nos idiotismes, qu'ils ne connaissent point et comprennent difficilement la signification de nos temps, qu'ils ont à peine une idée de notre subjonctif, que l'emploi de l'article et les règles du participe sont une nouveauté qui étonne leur esprit saxon, et qu'ils ont à apprendre même la prononciation de la langue française. De nombreux exercices terminent ma grammaire, et je fais imprimer séparément le corrigé de ces exercices. Celui-ci est destiné aux professeurs seulement et aux personnes qui étudient sans maître."

Petite Grammaire Francaise pour les Anglais. 12mo, $1.25.

Cette grammaire embrasse tout le sujet traité dans la Grammaire française pour les Anglais. Cependant, je me suis efforcé d'être assez simple dans mon style pour être compris de tous, même de ceux-là qui sont peu avancés dans l'étude du français, ou qui sont encore trop jeunes pour entendre rien à la philosophie d'une langue. Dans ce but, des exercices nombreux ont été mis dans le livre à côté des règles, et parmi ces exercices on trouvera un certain nombre de phrases anglaises et de courts extraits des auteurs anglais, destinés à être traduits par les élèves. Ils ont été choisis avec le plus grand soin, en vue d'enseigner l'application des règles, et de les faire mieux comprendre et mieux retenir."

"On a mis à la fin de cette grammaire le premier acte de Lo Dame de Lyons (The Lady of Lyons), et un chapitre des Aventures d'Alice dans le pays des merveilles (Alice's Adventures in Wonderland). On trouvera ces passages traduits dans le Corrigé des exercices qui accompagne ce livre."

Corrige des Exercices de la Grammaire Francaise. 12mo, paper, 50 cents.

Corrige des Exercices de la Petite Grammaire Francaise. 12mo, paper, 50 cents.

II.—LATIN.

Introduction to the Teaching of the Ancient Languages. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

"I have read with interest your 'Introduction to the Teaching of Ancient Languages,' and the first chapter of your 'Talks with Cæsar,' and desire to thank you for the advance sheets. I believe that the common methods of teaching languages, ancient or modern, to children and young persons, need to be profoundly changed, and changed in the direction of your 'Natural Method.'

"Your persevering efforts to make known your method, and to demonstrate its advantages, seem to me, therefore, to be of public service.

Believe me, dear sir, very truly yours,

PRES. CHARLES W. ELIOT, Harvard University."

The Vade Mecum of the Latinist. Thirty chapters of Cæsar, to be learned by heart. Reprinted from "Talks with Cæsar de Bello Gallico." (With accents, marks of quantity, and map of Gaul.) 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

A Word for Word Rendering into English of C. Julii Cæsar Commentarii de Bello Gallico, Book I. To accompany "Talks with Cæsar." 12mo paper, 25 cents.

Talks with Cæsar de Bello Gallico. (Colloquia Cæsariana ; Text of the First Four Books, with accents and marks of quantity ; Notes on Book First ; and an appendix on Pronunciation and Inflection. With map of Gaul.) 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"My dear Dr. Sauveur: I return by to-day's mail the proofs of your 'Talks with Cæsar,' which you sent me, and which I have read through with constantly increasing interest. The fact is, no one can stand out against your enthusiasm, to say nothing of your genius for teaching languages. I begin a skeptic ; I continue a rebel for a time ; but before I know it I surrender at discretion.

W. S. TYLER, Professor of Greek, Amherst College."

"I have the most hopeful interest in your application of the 'Natural Method' to the ancient languages. In learning Latin, it would save at least half the pupil's time, and would occupy the other half to much better purpose than by the old method, as it would exercise not his memory alone, but his reason and his imagination. I shall endeavor to interest the teachers of Latin in our public High School in your treatise, as illustrated by the 'Talks,' and shall be gratified to find them able and willing with new classes to enter upon the New Method.

DR. A. P. PEABODY, Harvard University."

SAGEN UND MYTHEN

Bearbeitet und mit Woerterverzeichniss versehen von

JOSEPHA SCHRAKAMP.

This little book was written in order to provide the student of the German language with easy sight-reading, and at the same time to arouse his interest in the numerous and beautiful mythology of Germany.

Care has been taken to represent each part of Germany by some characteristic tale. A vocabulary has been added, containing the words with which the student may not be familiar.

161 pages, 12mo, bound in cloth, 75 cents.

A COMMON-SENSE

Elementary Conversation Grammar of the German Language,

WITH

Exercises, Readings and Conversations.

By Dr. OSCAR WEINECK.

Second Revised Edition. $1.10.

This book has been adapted to the wants of the Public Schools of New York, and especially to the new Course of Studies, as lately adopted by the Board of Education. Its material has been divided into 90 lessons, thus giving to each of the five grades eighteen lessons, to be studied in a term of 20 weeks. An appendix contains an Introduction to Letter-Writing and further material for practical conversations.

The method represented in this book has been tried by me in the different classes with the pleasing result that by its means I have been able to keep the interest of the scholars alive through all the grades, and impart to them a power of conversation never before attained by them.

DR. OSCAR WEINECK,

Instructor of German in the Public Schools of New York City.

The Living Method

FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING

How to Think in Foreign Languages,

By CHARLES F. KROEH, A.M.,

Professor of Languages in the Stevens Institute of Technology,

IS BASED ON THE FOLLOWING FACTS:

1. You cannot speak fluently in a foreign language while thinking in your own, because it takes too long to find the foreign equivalents of your words and phrases, and to arrange them idiomatically.

2. You can learn to think directly in the foreign language by associating your actions with ready-made foreign sentences which describe them; in other words, by saying what you do.

3. The LIVING METHOD furnishes you with the expressions a German, a Frenchman, a Spaniard, etc., would use to describe his daily actions from the time he rises until he goes to bed.

4. While thus learning to live in French, or German, or Spanish, etc., you are also taught how to vary your sentences and how to connect them in all the ways peculiar to the language. You do not learn to "parrot" a few sentences, but acquire a command of all the modes of expression.

5. All the mental processes involved in the exercises are instantaneous.

6. Adequate practice is given in every grammatical difficulty.

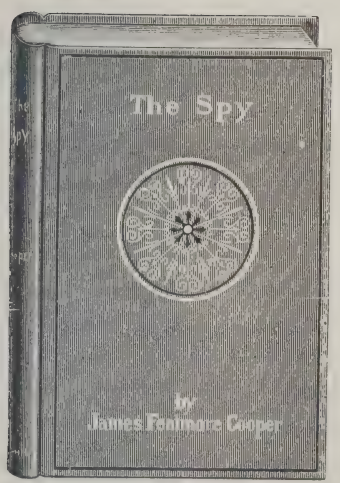
THE LAUREL LIBRARY.



NO little time and care has been given to the selection of this library, with a view to gathering a representative collection of best books by the world's great authors.

It is largely made up of the Classics of Fiction, with a sprinkling of Travel, Biography and Poetry. The publishers' purpose has been to make a series of books, not only excellent from a literary point of view, but so well constructed mechanically, that even the fastidious book-lover will not object to possessing them. They are shapely and generous 12mos, uniform in size, of clear, readable type, and carefully printed on handsome laid paper, especially made for the series, with "Laurel Library" water-mark. In binding, every detail has been looked after. The sheets are carefully folded, and the sewing is done in such a substantial manner that the books will readily open without breaking in the back. A simple but effective cover design, with distinct title lettering, has been chosen, and the series is uniformly bound in fine English cloth, dark olive in color, with slightly trimmed edges and gilt tops. 135 volumes. Price per volume, 75 cents.

ROUNDABOUT LIBRARY

FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Sixty volumes of quick-selling and ever-popular copyright juvenile books. There can be no risk to the buyer in ordering freely from this list, made up as it is of books by well known and popular authors upon whom youthful readers have already placed the seal of their approval. These books have been listed heretofore, with a few exceptions, at $1.25, and still find steady sale at the old rates. With a view to increasing this sale, and placing these books before a wider circle of readers, the publishers have decided to offer them in a new and attractive form and at a greatly reduced price.

Each volume is well illustrated, carefully printed on excellent paper, and substantially bound, with beautiful side and back stamps and new lithographed pictorial lining papers from original drawings made for the purpose. Uniform 12mos. . . . . Each, $1.00

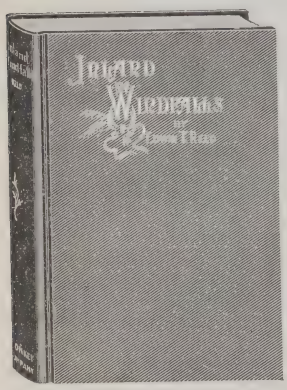
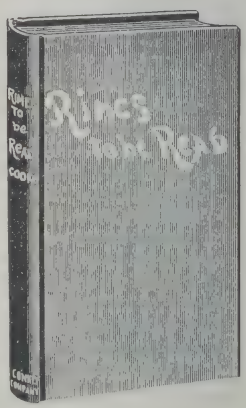
CHOICE PROSE AND CHARMING POETRY.



INLAND WINDFALLS.

By EDWIN T. REED.

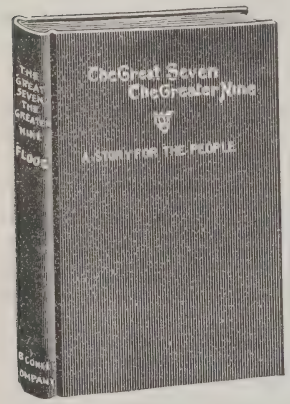
A collection of very pretty lyrics covering the daintiest, sweetest and tenderest moments of life. Every line in the book has a healthy ring to it, and appeals to the happiest emotions of men and women young and old. There is a peculiar enchantment about the music of Mr. Reed's verse, which never fails to captivate the reader, while the whole work revels in an atmosphere of peace and contentment, colored with a little bright and non-aggressive humor that helps to illumine the inherent goodness in human nature. "Inland Windfalls" is brimful of recreation.



THE GREAT SEVEN, THE GREATER NINE.

By JOHN H. FLOOD, Jr.

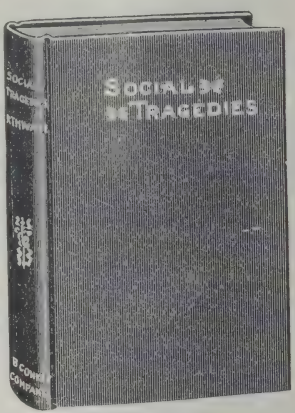
"The Great Seven" are men representing the nation's concentrated wealth which they control until their consciences are stricken by the sufferings and degradation of the people; then in conjunction with two patriotic politicians, they change the condition of the masses and bring happiness to the oppressed.



"CHESTER."

By HERBERT B. ROBINSON.

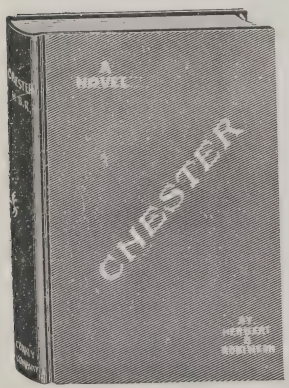
A fascinating story told with a naivette that is truly charming. Besides taking the reader on a tempestuous voyage in the realms of love, passion, sacrifice and sorrow, the author calmly pauses here and there to analyze and dissect, to criticise and wonder. By the time the last page is reached one realizes that he has had a most instructive lesson in the ever verdant marvels of psychology.



RIMES TO BE READ.

By J. EDMUND V. COOKE.

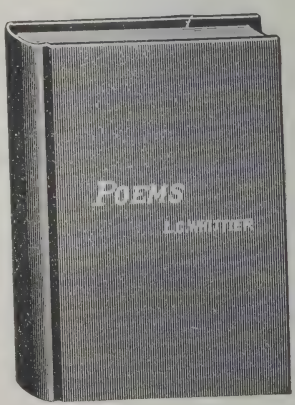
In this handsome volume will be found delightful character sketches, embracing pathos, patriotism and love, with bright, witty humor, presented in Mr. Cooke's most popular and irresistible style. Every lover of spontaneous verse will enjoy the delicate and subtle touch which creates genial laughter, always free from cynicism and bitterness.



SOCIAL TRAGEDIES.

By S. T. SATTERTHWAITE, M. D.

A true story from real life, depicting social events and dealing with many problems that encompass modern civilization. Divorce and the divorce courts, the new woman, and the fast society girl, pioneer life and pure love, are among the subjects that combine to make up one of the most entertaining narratives recently written.



POEMS.

By IDA CELIA WHITTIER.

This dainty volume contains a choice collection of beautiful poems by a writer who is gifted with an originality, both charming and profound. The work reveals a wide knowledge of life, which is dressed in the garb of simplicity and sweetness.

The Poems of Shakespeare. Edited, with an introduction and notes, by GEORGE WYNDHAM. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top, $2.00.

This edition is published to supply the want of a single volume containing the Venus, Lucrece, and Sonnets apart from the Plays. The three are reviewed in an introduction of 140 pages. The text is founded on the first quartos, with an endeavor to retain the original reading. The editor deals in the notes with the dates to be assigned to the composition of the several works, with the problem of the rival poets, and with the use of typography and punctuation in the quartos.

Crowell's Poets. New volumes:

The Epic of Hades. By LEWIS MORRIS. Hiawatha. By H. W. LONGFELLOW.
The Ring and the Book. By ROBERT BROWNING.

Astor Edition, per vol., $0.60. Gilt Edge Edition, per vol., $1.00; etc., etc.

"Crowell's Poets" have now become household words. Nearly 80 titles and 20 styles of binding are found in this series, which has won a reputation for carefully edited texts, clear print, good paper, tasteful bindings, and low prices.

HISTORY.

The Founding of the German Empire by William I. By HEINRICH VON SYBEL. Translated by HELENE SCHIMMELFENNIG WHITE. Vol. VII., completing the set. Index and chronological tables. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top, $2.00. The set, 7 vols., cloth, $14.00.

The seventh and concluding volume of this monumental work, which the author, before his death, succeeded in bringing to a successful culmination, brings the story down to the Franco-Prussian War. This is naturally the most dramatic and fascinating of all the volumes.

A General History of the World. By VICTOR DURUY, formerly Minister of Public Instruction and Member of the Academy. Translated from the French and thoroughly revised, with an introduction and summary of contemporaneous history from 1848 to June, 1898, by EDWIN A. GROSVENOR, Professor of European History in Amherst College. One volume uniform with Duruy's "History of France." 12mo, with 25 colored maps, $2.00.

The most complete and satisfactory general history that can be found. Admirable maps are generously supplied; and the volume will prove a boon to all students and teachers of history as well as to readers in general.

ECONOMICS.

Workingmen's Insurance. By WILLIAM F. WILLOUGHBY, United States Department of Labor. Vol. XIV. in Crowell's Library of Economics and Politics. 12mo. Cloth, $1.75.

"This important work is devoted to the most painstaking and exhaustive examination of the problem of the insurance of workingmen against accidents, sickness, and old age that has yet been made. An exceptionally valuable book." — The Outlook.

Congressional Committees. By LAUROS G. MCCONACHIE, Ph.D. Vol. XV. in Crowell's Library of Economics and Politics. 12mo. Cloth, $1.75.

"Extremely valuable for general reference and also for the use of the student of our parliamentary institutions." — N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Municipal Monopolies. A collection of papers by American economists and specialists. Edited by EDWARD W. BEMIS, Ph.D., Professor of Political Economy in the Kansas State Agricultural College. Vol. XVI. in Crowell's Library of Economics and Politics. 12mo. Cloth, $1.75.

The timeliness of this volume, and the care with which it has been compiled, make it one of the most important in the whole series.

Loom and Spindle. A description of old-time factory life. By HARRIET H. ROBINSON. With introduction by the Honorable CARROLL D. WRIGHT. 16mo. $1.25.

RELIGION.

The Joy of Service. By J. R. MILLER, D.D. 16mo. Cloth, $0.75; gilt top, $1.00.

Dr. Miller's books never fail to touch a popular chord, and this little volume on unselfish living has all the best qualities of its predecessors.

The Gentleness of Jesus. By MARK GUY PEARSE. 16mo. Cloth, $0.75; gilt top, $1.00.

"Will be very acceptable in Christian homes." — Methodist Recorder.

"The book is sure to help many." — Methodist Times.

Mark Time. By ANNA R. BROWN LINDSAY. Author of "What is Worth While?" 18mo. Cloth, ornamental, $0.75.

Will be found no less stimulating and valuable than the author's earlier works.

Through my Spectacles. By MARY H. PERKINS (Dorcas Hicks). 18mo. Cloth, $0.75.

A collection of thirty-nine articles treating in a graceful and sympathetic manner of common topics.

Young People's Problems. By J. R. MILLER, D.D. 18mo. Cloth, $0.75.

Dr. Miller is so sympathetic with the young and his experience has been so wide that his wise words will be found helpful to many readers.

By the Still Waters. By J. R. MILLER, D.D. Illustrated Edition. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $0.60. Full leather, $1.00.

"A delightful meditation on the 23d Psalm by the Prince of devotional writers. Its deep spirituality is most uplifting." — Heidelberg Teacher.

Ships and Havens. By HENRY VAN DYKE, D.D. Fine Edition from new plates. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, $0.60. Full leather, $1.00.

"The little volume is better than gold. The book, we trust, will attract many 'to the desired haven.'" — Pacific Christian Advocate.

NEW BOOKS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

In the Navy, or Father Against Son. By WARREN LEE GOSS, author of "Jed," with 12 illustrations by M. J. BURNS. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

A stirring story of naval adventures in the great civil war. It reads like a transcript of real life, and the reader follows the adventures of the two heroes with the keenest interest.

The Secret of Achievement. By ORISON SWETT MARDEN, author of "Pushing to the Front," with 16 portraits. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

A vast fund of illustrative anecdote and helpful advice will be found in this new volume by the author of "Pushing to the Front." Dr. Marden knows his audience, and is never dull.

Chilhowee Boys in Harness. By SARAH C. MORRISON. Illustrated. 12mo. $1.25.

The last in the series of "Chilhowee" books, and equal in every way to its companions. These excellent books are among the best for boys.

Joel Harford. By JAMES OTIS. Illustrated. 8vo. $1.25.

A story of a country boy who goes to New York to earn his living and make his way. It will appeal to all healthy boys.

Off to Klondyke. By Dr. GORDON STABLES. Illustrated. 12mo. $1.25.

Dr. Stables, the popular writer for boys, relates the experiences of some English boys who succeed in reaching the Klondyke after exciting escapes and strange adventures.

The Story of the Big Front Door. By MARY F. LEONARD. Illustrated. 8vo. $1.25.

There is a peculiarly congenial atmosphere about this story, an air of refinement and good will. The sweetest and most wholesome story for children that has appeared in a long time.

T. Y. CROWELL & CO.'S NEW BOOKS. — Continued.

HANDY VOLUME CLASSICS.

Beautifully printed on fine paper and bound in unique styles, these popular books have had a large sale by reason of their attractive appearance and reasonable prices.

All the titles are bound in the following styles:

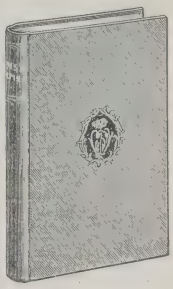
Oak Leaf.

Flexible Cloth, Plain Edges. — This style is especially recommended for schools, and all other purposes for which a neat, durable style of binding is desired. Per volume . $.35

Oak Leaf Edition. — This is a decided novelty in binding. The veneer sides are made from the wood of a Japanese tree much valued for its many wonderful properties. The decoration in inks serves to bring out the natural beauties of the wood, and the back of green cloth harmonizes well with the side effects. Per volume . . . . . $.40

Popular Edition. — White back, fancy paper sides. Per volume . . . . . $.50

Cloth, Gilt Top. — With gold medallion on side. Boxed. Per volume . . . . . $.50



Flexible Cloth.

Limp Leather. — Gilt top, silk book-mark, boxed. Per volume . . . . . $.75

Half Calf. — Gilt top, boxed. Per volume 2.00

DENISON'S
REFERENCE INDEX

APPLICABLE TO

Dictionaries, Catalogues, Blank Books,
Directories, Commercial Reports,
Atlases, Trade Lists, Cyclopedias, Periodicals.

REFERENCE BOOKS OF ALL KINDS, ETC.

For convenience in description the letters in gold on the thin black leather in the cuttings are called PRIMARIES, and the other letters are called SECONDARIES.

It enables one to turn to any letter or subject with a single motion.

1ST. If the book is lying with front cover up and it is desired to open to any word beginning with F, pass the finger under that letter on the cover into the cutting beneath it, and the book is instantly opened to the position of the volumes as in the above illustrations.

2d. From this position one turns in the same way to any of the letters, G to L, found on the margin of the right hand page.

SEE THIRD PAGE.

3d. To turn to any letter visible in the cutting, as A to L, on the left side of the book, or M to Z on the right, place the thumb on the letter in the cutting, then grasp the adjacent leaves with the fingers, and the book is opened, as before, at a single motion.

The cuttings are colored, and the letters or abbreviations in the cuttings are gold or silver, on thin black leather, so that the index proves an ornament, not a blemish to the book.

It saves a large part of the time consumed in consulting books of reference, preserving them by reducing the handling, and will outlast even the best leather bindings.

This Reference Index is best and most cheaply applied in the original printing, and binding of the book, and estimates will be cheerfully made to printers, binders or publishers on all sorts of edition work.

Webster, Worcester and many other books are issued in large numbers in this form.

In buying books of reference be sure to specify "with Denison's Index, as shown in the cuts."

The cost per volume of Denison's Reference Index, when applied in the original printing and binding of the book is but trifling, but when it has to be applied completely by hand, the cost is necessarily very much more, as follows:

$2.00 on each copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.
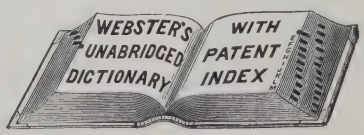
Worcester's " "
Lippincott's Gazeteer.
" Biographical Dictionary.
Harper's Latin Dictionary.
" Greek "

$1.50 each copy on
Adler's German and English Dictionary.
Surenne's French and English Dictionary.

$1.00 each copy on
Academic Dictionaries, etc.

From the above prices any one can readily estimate approximately the cost according to the size, of having any book indexed with Denison's Reference Index complete.



DENISON'S DUPLEX INDEX.

This differs from the Reference Index by having the "Secondaries" printed on the walls of the cuttings, instead of on the margins of the covers and leaves.

The only proper way to index a book is with a notch for each subject, as shown in the cut. This is the COMPLETE INDEX, and I do not recommend any other.

Yet for those who insist on a cheap Index, I will supply a Condensed Index, with one notch for two subjects, and the index matter printed in both sides of the cutting, which is the BEST CHEAP INDEX THAT CAN BE MADE.

This Index is progressive, as all Indexes should be, the notches being placed at the beginning of the two subjects and looking forward; instead of being put between the subjects, and so causing a moment's hesitation and confusion in the mind in deciding which way to turn.

From the Boston "Transcript":

There is nothing stronger in modern English fiction than the novels of Charles Reade. They have a strength and intensity which belong to no other modern writer. Reade is essentially dramatic in all his works, and yet one does not have the feeling that his situations are premeditated. They happen naturally, and the incidents which lead up to them are never strained or improbable. In most of his novels there was some definite underlying purpose. Other of his works have less apparent aim, but they are none the less entertaining. Messrs. DeWolfe, Fiske & Co.'s handsome library edition of Reade's novels is printed from new plates, in large, clear type, on excellent paper, and elegantly bound in cloth. Its appearance brings Reade into favor as a novelist, and opens to younger readers a mine of genuine literary enjoyment.

G. W. DILLINGHAM CO., Publishers,

119 & 121 WEST 23d STREET. NEW YORK.

Mary J. Holmes' Novels.

"Mrs. Holmes' stories are universally read. Her admirers are numberless. She is in many respects without a rival in the world of fiction. Her characters are always life-like, and she makes them talk and act like human beings, subject to the same emotions, swayed by the same passions, and actuated by the same motives which are common among men and women of everyday existence."

Augusta J. Evans' Novels.

"Who has not read with rare delight the novels of Augusta Evans? Her strange, wonderful, and fascinating style; the profound depths to which she sinks the probe into human nature, touching its most sacred chords and springs; the intense interest thrown around her characters, and the very marked peculiarities of her principal figures, conspire to give an unusual interest to the works of this eminent Southern authoress."

Albert Ross' Novels.

New Cloth Bound Editions.

"There is a great difference between the productions of Albert Ross and those of some of the sensational writers of recent date. When he depicts vice he does it with an artistic touch, but he never makes it attractive. Mr. Ross' dramatic instincts are strong. His characters become in his hands living, moving creatures."

John Esten Cooke's Works.

"The thrilling historic stories of John Esten Cooke must be classed among the BEST and most POPULAR of all American writers. The great contest between the States was the theme he chose for his Historic Romances. Following until the close of the war the fortunes of Stuart, Ashby, Jackson and Lee, he returned to 'Eagle's Nest,' his old home, where, in the quiet of peace, he wrote volume after volume, intense in dramatic interest."

A. S. Roe's Novels.

"There is no writer of the present day who excels A. S. Roe, in his particular line of fiction. He is distinguished by his fidelity to nature, his freedom from affectation, his sympathy with the interests of everyday existence and his depth and sincerity of feeling. His stories appeal to the heart, and strengthen and refresh it."

"Brick" Pomeroy's Works.

"The versatility of genius exhibited by this author has won for him a world-wide reputation as a facetious and a strong writer. One moment replete with the most touching pathos, and the next full of fun, frolic and sarcasm."

Sense—A serious book	$1 50	Nonsense—A comic book	$1 50
Gold Dust	1 50	Brick Dust do	1 50
Our Saturday Nights	1 50	Home Harmonies	1 50

Allan Pinkerton's Works.

"The mental characteristics of Allan Pinkerton were judgment as to facts, knowledge of men, the ability to concentrate his faculties on one subject, and the persistent power of will. A mysterious problem of crime, against which his life was devoted, presented to his thought, was solved almost in an instant, and seemingly by his intuitions. With half-closed eyes he saw the scene in which the wrong was done, read every movement of the criminals, and reached invariably the correct conclusion as to their conduct and guilt."

BY AUTHORS

FALL AND WINTER OF 1898

THE PUBLISHERS' PLAN

"The book publishing business has been formed for convenience into a separate department under the title of the Doubleday & McClure Co. We shall build up, as quickly as may be, a worthy collection of books, and in choosing them we shall follow the same line of editorial policy that is exemplified in McClure's Magazine; we shall publish wholesome, stimulating literature, and sound, interesting knowledge. Not only will our books be good, helpful reading, but they will be well made and sold at reasonable prices."—McClure's Magazine, October, 1897.

SPECIAL NOTICE

For the convenience of readers we give specimens of the various sizes of type as described in the specification attached to the description of each book. We have used the point system which is replacing the old style of description—nonpareil, pica, etc.

In describing the sizes of books we have given the actual measurements of the volumes instead of the usual designations—12mo, octavo, etc.

This line is set in 6-Point or Nonpareil

This line is set in 7-Point or Minion

This line is set in 8-Point or Brevier

This line is set in 9-Point or Bourgeois

This line is set in 10-Point or Long Primer

LIST OF BOOKS PUBLISHED BY DOUBLEDAY & McCLURE CO.

Allen, Grant — Flashlights on Nature

A book describing the life histories of our most familiar insects and plants. The illustrations include more than 100 drawings by Frederic Enock, who has made his sketches directly from life under the microscope; he has often watched, as Mr. Allen tells us, for twelve hours at a time to intercept a rare chrysalis at its moment of bursting, or for the favorable moment for drawing some unusual characteristic. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 5½x8 ; Pages, about 300 ; Fully Illustrated ; Binding, cloth, decorated ; Type, 11-point ; Price, $1.50.

Ashmore, Ruth — The Business Girl

A practical book for practical women, addressed to the great number of intelligent business women who have sprung up in this country within the past decade. The volume is thought to be the first work addressed exclusively to women workers of the higher class. (Ready October.)

Blanchan, Neltje — Bird Neighbors

WITH INTRODUCTION BY JOHN BURROUGHS

An introductory acquaintance with 150 of our common birds, with 52 superb full-page pictures in color photography from the birds themselves. John Burroughs, the highest authority on this subject, who has annotated the text, says of the colored plates, in his introduction :

"When I began the study of birds I had access to a copy of Audubon, which greatly stimulated my interest in the pursuit, but I did not have the opera glass, and I could not take Audubon with me on my walks, as the reader may this volume, and he will find these colored plates quite as helpful as those of Audubon or Wilson."

This book makes the identification of our birds simple and positive, even to the uninitiated, through certain unique features. (15th Thousand).

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 7¾x10⅜ ; Pages, 250 ; Strong green cloth binding ; Type, 11-point ; Printed on fine paper, full margins for notes. 52 colored plates. Price, $2.00.

Blanchan, Neltje Birds that Hunt and are Hunted

Annotated and with an introduction by G. O. Shields, "Coquina"; a companion volume to "Bird Neighbors." This new book gives the life histories more completely than ever before in a popular work of 160 of our game and water birds and birds of prey, and contains 48 colored plates. Octavo. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 7¾x10⅜ ; Pages, 250 ; Strong green cloth binding ; Type, 11-point ; Printed on fine paper, full margins for notes. 48 colored plates. Price, $2.00.

Blanchan, Neltje The Popular Ornithology

Is a boxed edition of "Bird Neighbors" and "Birds that Hunt and are Hunted." These two volumes cover all of our well-known birds. Text by Neltje Blanchan, annotated and with introductions by John Burroughs and G. O. Shields. The 100 colored plates present an unexampled series of bird pictures, being colored photographs from the birds themselves. 2 vols., octavo, boxed, $4.00.

Bourgoyne, Sergeant Memoirs of 1812–1813

Compiled from the original MSS. by Paul Cottin. This book has already run through many editions in Paris. It gives the personal adventures (compiled from his diary) of a sergeant in a regiment of the Emperor Napoleon's Old Guard. He went through the terrible Russian campaign and endured to the full the terrific hardships of the private soldier. A new light, a new point of view upon a chapter of history which will always hold its place in the picturesque annals of the world. (In Press.)

Bullock, Shan F. The Barrys

A charming novel of Irish life by this rising young author, who has already made a marked impression by his tales of country life in Ireland. Nan, the heroine, is a character likely to be long remembered. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 5x7½ ; Binding, green cloth, pictorial design ; Pages, 375 ; Type, 10-point ; Dollar Novel Series.

Butterworth, Hezekiah South America

A POPULAR ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF THE STRUGGLE FOR LIBERTY IN THE ANDEAN REPUBLICS AND CUBA

The need for such a book is demonstrated by the statement that no general history of these countries, which are daily becoming more closely associated with us politically and commercially, exists. The author has just returned from a second visit made especially to study the countries and the people at first hand. He tells not only of the present, but points out the great future of these countries. (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 6¼x9¼ ; Pages, 325. Binding, cloth stamped in five colors and gold. Type, 11-point. Illustrations, 24 inserted plates. Price, $2.00.

Conrad, Joseph — The Rescue

A TALE OF THE SHALLOWS

Mr. Conrad, whose books about the sea have made so great a reputation in England, has written here a notable novel, entitled "The Rescue, A Tale of the Shallows," which will be published during the coming winter. Mr. Conrad has among those who believe in him some of the best judges in England, among them Mr. Meredith, Mr. Barrie, and W. E. Henley. (In press.)

Crane, Stephen — The Open Boat

AND OTHER TALES OF ADVENTURE

This volume has received an extraordinarily unanimous chorus of praise from the critics, who were quick to appreciate the author's "The Red Badge of Courage." Literature, in a recent issue, says: "For the reader's information, we may say at once that this is a book to be read." The London Athenæum says of the stories: "They show evidence of that extraordinary ability amounting to genius which distinguishes all the prose of Mr. Stephen Crane."

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size 4½x6¾; Pages, 336; Binding, linen, silver and ink stamping; Type, 11-point. Price, $1.00.

Dawson, W. J. — Thro' Lattice Windows

A book of remarkable quality consisting of a group of character stories. These tales of real life (in a way related to each other) by Dr. W. J. Dawson give quite a striking picture of small village life in England, new to American readers.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 7x4⅝; Binding, decorated cloth covers; Type, 11-point. Pages, 384; Price, $1.25.

Dickens, Charles — Temple Edition of the Novels

The Doubleday & McClure Co. have pleasure in stating that in co-operation with J. M. Dent & Co., of London, they have undertaken to present an ideal edition of the novels of Dickens in small volumes, put forth with the same exquisite taste displayed by Mr. Dent in his various Temple editions. The set will be complete in forty volumes; the first will be issued in October, and the whole series will be finished in about one year. Dainty colored frontispieces will be a feature of the edition, and it may fairly be promised that the books will represent the most perfect work yet accomplished in England and certainly the best edition of Dickens. The books will be printed from new plates and every detail has been carefully worked out. The prices are remarkably low. The volumes are arranged as follows and will be issued at the rate of three volumes a month, beginning October, 1898:

The Pickwick Papers	3 vols.	Christmas Books / Christmas Stories	3 vols.
Sketches by Boz	2 vols.

Doyle, A. Conan — Songs of Action

The first book of poems published by Dr. Doyle, whose novels have been so widely read. They have the true swing and rush, and deal with war and adventure. The London Times in an advance notice says: "These songs ought rapidly to become popular. Readers of 'The White Company' and some other books of his are well aware that he can write songs, and the present volume will pleasantly remind them of the happy hours which they spent over that thrilling romance." (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7. Page, 162; Binding, silk basket-cloth, gold stamping. Type, 12-point. Price, $1.25.

Ellis, Edward S. — Klondike Nuggets

Fleming, William H. How to Study Shakespeare

INTRODUCTION BY W. J. ROLFE, LITT. D.

The aim of this book is to make possible to individuals and clubs the intelligent and appreciative study of Shakespeare's chief plays.

"We state, without hesitation, that this book will be of the highest usefulness in the study of Shakespeare: and that it is an addition to Shakespearean literature which is of real and permanent value."—Frederic G. Smedley, President N. Y. Shakespeare Club.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7; Pages, 445; Wide margins for readers' notes; Binding, linen cloth; Type, 8-point. Price, $1.00 net.

Fraser, W. A. The Eye of a God

AND OTHER TALES OF EAST AND WEST

Mr. Fraser is a new writer of the greatest promise. He has lived in many parts of the far East, in Burmah and India especially. He has not only had strange adventures, but he is possessed of a keen observation and a striking style of his own. He is equally familiar with the far West of our own country and Canada and knows the Redskin as well as the Hindoo. The tales have a new flavor and the true ring of reality and life. (Ready November.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 4½x7; Binding, cloth, with decorated design; Pages, 260. Type, 12-point. Illustrations, frontispiece drawing on Japan paper. Price, $1.00.

Garland, Hamlin
Life and Character of General U. S. Grant

The author has spent the last three years in studying his subject, and has produced what is, in reality, the first personal life of the great commander. He has traveled 35,000 miles in quest of his material, has visited every place where General Grant ever lived, and all his battlefields, and has personally talked with every intimate friend of Grant now living who could help fill out the picture. In addition to having access to all the material used by other biographers, he has had the use of many unpublished letters. He has written an unbiassed life of the General as a man, concealing nothing and adding nothing. Only a small part of the matter has been used in McCLURE'S MAGAZINE. The material for the illustrations has been gathered with the same care and original research as the material for the text. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 6¾x9½. Pages, 550. Binding, strong linen; Type, 11-point; Illustrations, 32; coated paper inserted. Price, $2.50.

Garland, Hamlin The Spirit of Sweetwater

Kester, Paul — Tales of the Real Gypsy

These tales of the road and open country, of the van, tent and camp fire, strike an entirely new note. The wild, free Gypsy life as it really exists among the 5,000,000 or more of these Ishmaelites now wandering over the face of the earth—their picturesque, open air independence, their isolated unchanging government and language, their romance, deceit, loyalty, pride, intensity of feeling, are depicted by one who has studied them closely, while traveling and living with them.

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 6¾x4½; Binding, cloth, decorated cover; Pages 312; Type 11-point. Price, $1.00.

Kipling, Rudyard — The Day's Work

Mr. Kipling's new book has been making for three or four years, and contains his most mature and powerful work. It includes, as will be seen, his stories of ships and machinery, in which he makes the inanimate live and the huge organism of the marine engine as well as the American locomotive speak—a field absolutely new and one in which only a man of genius could be successful. Among the contents are: "The Ship that Found Herself," "Bread upon the Waters," "The Devil and the Deep Sea," "007," "The Bridge Builders," "My Sunday at Home," "The Tomb of His Ancestors," "In the Black Pastures," "The Maltese Cat," "A Brushwood Boy," "William the Conqueror," etc., etc. The book is most attractively made. First edition, 20,000. (Ready September 30.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5¼x8¼; Binding, green cloth. Pages, about 400; Type, 10-point; Illustrations, 8 full pages by W. L. Taylor, W. D. Stevens, Sonntag, Blumenschein and others. Price, $1.50.

Ladies' Home Journal Libraries

A combination has been formed by the Doubleday & McClure Company and the Curtis Publishing Company for the publishing of a series of dainty books under the title, The Ladies' Home Journal Library, which will be extensively made known to what is believed to be the largest list of book buyers ever reached by any direct communication. The combined circulation of McClure's Magazine and The Ladies' Home Journal numbers about 1,250,000 every month, reaching, probably, some 5,000,000 readers. The sets are arranged as follows:

Library of Fiction—

The Spirit of Sweetwater, by Hamlin Garland.
A Minister of the World, by C. A. Mason.
The People of Our Neighborhood, by Mary E. Wilkins.

Domestic Library—

Good Cooking, by Mrs. Rorer.
Inside 100 Homes, by W. M. Johnson.
Model Homes at Low Cost, by W. M. Price.

The Girls' Library—

The Well Bred Girl in Society, by Mrs. Burton Harrison.
The Business Girl, by Ruth Ashmore.
Home Games and Parties to which are added chapters on Evening Refreshments, by Mrs. Rorer.

Particulars of each book can be found under the name of the author or title. The volumes are well made, many illustrated by photogravures and at low prices—50 cents for cloth and $1.00 for full leather.

Life and Teachings of Christ by the Four Evangelists

WITH INTRODUCTION BY CANON FARRAR

An English scholar has here collected into a simple and continuous narrative the life and teaching of Christ taken from the writings of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. He extracted from each of the gospels the story of the period in the life of our Lord which was most full and detailed, and has in this way made a more complete and full account than is found in any one of the gospels. Not a word of what the Disciples wrote has been altered. The book is abundantly illustrated by photographs of the real Palestine. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7½; Pages, 175; Binding, ribbed cloth, red and gold stamping; Type, 10-point. Illustrations, 32 plates inserted. Price, $1.00.

Life's Book of Animals

A book of the cleverest and most amusing pictures for children showing animals and their ways, taken from Life. The book includes about 100 pictures, every one of which will delight children. (Ready August.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 7x10 oblong; Binding, cloth, with elaborate colored design by A. B. Blashfield; Pages, 80. Price, $1.00.

Mason, Caroline A. A Minister of the World

The story of a young and brilliant preacher in a small New England parish. Two women exert a powerful influence over him, appealing to different sides of his nature. In the conflict of feeling the hour of crisis comes, and he awakens to find himself "A Minister of the World." Four photogravures from drawings by W. T. Smedley.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 4x6; Pages, 186; Binding, design in gold and ink; Type, 11-point. Price, 50 cents. Full leather, holiday style, $1.00.

McClure's, Tales from

This set of 5 volumes contains the best short stories published in McCLURE'S MAGAZINE, which has been famous for spirited, wholesome tales. The volumes are well illustrated and arranged as follows:

VOL. I. Romance
VOL. II. Humor
VOL. III. The West
VOL. IV. Adventure
VOL. V. War

McCutcheon, John T. Our Navy in the Phillipines

The author was present during the entire action at Manila, and afterwards, and gives in this volume (with his own illustrations) the most complete and satisfactory account of a great episode in our history. (In press.)

Miles, General Nelson A. — Military Europe

Last year General Miles visited the chief countries of Europe, for the purpose of studying, in the interests of the United States Government, the military conditions of Europe and the war between Greece and Turkey. Visiting these countries as the Commanding General of the United States Army his opportunities were of course most exceptional. The illustrations are abundant and important, showing not only the army conditions but the chief ships of the navies as well. (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 8x10½; Pages, 150; Binding, decorated cloth; 50 illustrations; Type 12-point; Price, $1.50.

Moore, F. C. — How to Build a Home

While there are dozens of books giving an endless variety of designs for houses, there is only now just issued a book which tells "How to Build a Home"—a book which will stand at one's elbow, so to speak, and answer all technical and practical questions. A close study of it will save omissions and put the amateur builder in possession of all the information necessary to build to the best advantage. Through its aid, extras, the bane of so many inexperienced builders, can be avoided. If the book did nothing more than prevent the building of smoking fireplaces (and this it does by giving simple, clear directions which are scientifically correct), it would more than fulfill its mission. Over 50,000 sold.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 7⅛x5¼; Binding, unique wood covers, gilt top; Pages 152; illustrations, specimen plans, drawings, etc. Type, 10-point. Price, $1.00.

Mother Goose — A Book of Nursery Rhymes

This is a child's de luxe book, limited to 1,030 copies, bound in unique wood cover. The great advance in book-making should find perhaps its highest expression in children's books. The water colors are by Francis D. Bedford.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size 7x10; Binding in natural wood; Pages, 90; Illustrated in colors. Price $1.50.

Norris, Frank — Moran of the Lady Letty

This story is a most fresh and original one, and has to do with a young Norwegian woman who has followed the sea with her father and knows no other life. The author is a young San Franciscan, and the story, when published serially in the NewYork Evening Sun, attracted unusual notice. It is short, but full of originality. (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 4½x7; Binding, cloth, pictorial cover. Pages, 275. Type, 12-point. Price, $1.00.

O'Brien, William — A Queen of Men

A novel by the Irish member of Parliament from Cork, the scene of which is laid in Ireland. It is a brilliantly written book, as one might expect from such a man as Mr. O'Brien. (Ready August.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7½; Binding, green cloth, pictorial design. Pages, 330; Type, 10-point. Dollar Novel Series.

Ollivant, William — Bob, Son of Battle

Mr. Ollivant is a new writer who has succeeded in telling a romantic story in which a noble dog figures as one of the chief characters in a way that makes his book both noteworthy and original. (Ready October.)

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7½; Binding, green cloth, pictorial design; Pages, 320; Type, 10-point; Dollar Novel Series.

Parsons, Samuel S., Jr.
How to Plan the Home Grounds

Mr. Parsons, one of the best of landscape architects, and for years Superintendent of the New York Parks, does in this book for the outside of the home what "How to Build a Home" does for the house itself. He gives practical directions for laying out the home grounds, selection of site, the care and making of roads and paths, lawns, woodlands, hedges, gardens, selection of plants and trees, etc. In a second section he treats of the village improvements, designed to elevate public taste as it concerns the highways, the school houses, the stations and the village outdoor life generally.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5½x7½; Binding, unique wood covers; Pages, 160; illustrations, diagrams and plans; Type, 10-point. Price, $1.00.

Perry, Bliss, Editor — Little Masterpieces

Price, William L. Model Houses for Little Money

There are given here plans for tasteful and substantial houses which can be built at a cost of from $1,000 to $4,500. The designs are the results of the study of a well-known architect, made for the Ladies' Home Journal, and the prices given are real, many houses having been built from these plans at these prices, as attested by photographs. (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 4x6 ; Pages, 150 ; Binding, uniform with "Inside 100 Homes"; Type, 11-point. The illustrations include designs and plans, etc. Price, 50 cents.

Prince Uno Uncle Frank's Visit to Fairyland

"The ever-dear, kind, tiny and powerful fairies hold the field in 'Prince Uno.' Children will never tire of hearing and reading about these little people—so small that only years of fruitless search can convince them that they may not some time, by extra good luck, meet one in the woods or garden, and be offered the three magic wishes which bring lasting content."—New York Evening Post.

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 7½x5⅛ ; Binding, decorated cloth in gold and colors. Pages, 241. Illustrations number more than 100 by W. D. Stevens. Type, 11-point. Price $1.25.

Rorer, Mrs. S. T. Good Cooking

A MANUAL OF PRACTICAL HOUSEKEEPING

Mrs. Rorer devotes half her volume to instructions for good cooking, a selection of the best foods for various purposes, for invalids, dyspeptics, men and women, etc. The second half of the volume is taken up with domestic lessons, which cover "good housekeeping" in its largest and most intelligent sense. This book contains in compact form, as the author says in the introduction, the result of her twenty years' experience and study. (Ready September.)

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 4x6 ; Pages, 200 ; Binding, uniform with "Inside 100 Homes." Type, 10-point. Illustration, photogravure frontispiece portrait. Price, cloth, 50 cents. Full leather, holiday style, $1.00.

Rostand, Edward — Cyrano de Bergerac

The authorized translation by Miss Gertrude Hall of this great play, which has created an extraordinary impression, having been the success of the last fifty years and being known to every intelligent person in France. It is to be performed in England by Sir Henry Irving and in this country by Richard Mansfield. Already more than 70,000 copies have been sold in France. (Ready October.)

From cable despatch to the N.Y. Evening Post, July 9th: "London booksellers say that Rostand's book is having a sale here unprecedented, while even the English translation is selling largely. "Cyrano de Bergerac" has indeed been the event of the week outside of politics."

Shakespeare — The Shakespearean Library

We have secured the best set of Shakespeare for popular reading and printed and bound it in a form which will appeal to all who care for small, flexible volumes which will lie open in one's hand without cracking the backs, may be carried in one's pocket and easily read anywhere because of the large type. The edition is edited from the best text—the first folio—by Prof. Henry Morley, LL.D. Prof. Morley has written an introduction to each of the plays and gives a careful study of Shakespeare's work. To each play are added extracts from THE BOOKS THAT SHAKESPEARE USED. These cover about 2,000 pages, and with the notes, introductions and illustrations form a complete Shakespearean Library.

SPECIFICATIONS:—18 volumes; Size, 5¾x4⅛; Binding, flexible cloth and leather. Pages, 384 per volume. Illustrations from Boydell Gallery. Price, $8.00, cloth; $16.00, leather; Sold on small instalments including a year's subscription to McCLURE'S MAGAZINE.

Shearman, Thomas G. — Natural Taxation

An inquiry into the practicability, justice and effects of a scientific and national method of taxation. New edition revised and enlarged.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5x7½; Binding, plain cloth and paper; Pages, 270: Type, 10-point. Price, cloth, $1.00; paper, 25 cents.

Smith, George Adam, D.D., LL.D. — The Life of Henry Drummond

It is fortunate that so able a writer has been selected to prepare the authorized life of Dr. Drummond, whose "Natural Law in the Spiritual World" and other books were a revelation to untold thousands. Dr. Drummond was so reticent and retiring as a man that but little was known of his personality. His life and character were an inspiration to those who knew him; Dr. Smith was his intimate, and the book will take its place as one of the great biographies. (In press.)

Stead, W. T., Editor — Hymns that have Helped

WITH AN AMERICAN INTRODUCTION AND MANY ADDITIONS

"The songs of the English-speaking people," says Mr. Stead in his preface, "are for the most part hymns." This is the central idea of the book admirably carried out, the collection including some one hundred and fifty hymns. Not of least value is the text, by Mr. Stead and many others, which tells of the origin, the influence and the character of the hymns.

SPECIFICATIONS :—Size, 5⅞x4½ ; Binding, cloth, gold stamping. Type, 9-point. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Full flexible leather, gilt edges, $2.00.

Taken from Life — Verses and Pictures

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Magazine has secured for the coming months an unusual number of important and attractive features. Simply as illustrative of their general character and interest, we mention the following:

Wells, H. G. — Scientific Romances

We have secured for coming numbers a series of short stories by Mr. H. G. Wells, author of "The War of the Worlds." The London Spectator said recently of Mr. Wells: "As a writer of scientific romances he has never been surpassed." While carrying his characters through the most unheard of and fantastic adventures, Mr. Wells still keeps them perfectly real and human. His ingenuity and invention are marvelous, and he combines with them an excellent power of characterization.

Adventures and Experiences of a Telegrapher

Captain Jasper Brady, now of the army, but for a number of years a telegraph operator in the chief commercial offices and on several important railroads, has written for the Magazine some chapters of his personal telegraph adventures and experiences. They reveal the romantic side of the telegraph operator's life, and are most interesting.

The Later Life of Lincoln

Miss Tarbell's papers on the "Early Life of Lincoln" ended with Lincoln's first nomination to the Presidency. In the November number will begin her papers on "Lincoln's Later Life," which will exhibit Lincoln at his home in Springfield between the time of his nomination and his inauguration, and in his daily life in the White House, giving a complete picture of the man throughout the last five years of his life, and also an account of such of the movements of the War as centered in him.

Kipling, Rudyard — Stories and Poems

Mr. Kipling will continue to be a contributor of poems and short stories. It is the general judgment that he never did stronger and nobler work than he is doing just now, and his contributions to McCLURE'S will always be of his best.

GROVE (Dr. George). Beethoven's Nine Symphonies. With illustrations from the Scores. Cloth, $1.50. (Out of print.)

These analytical essays, by one of the most eminent musical authorities, are sufficiently technical to be of great value to the student of music; while at the same time they are popular enough to be intelligible and useful to the general reader. Carefully read over once or twice, with the illustrated passages played on the piano or violin, they form the best possible introduction to the music itself. The Analyses are also published separately, in neat pamphlet form, as follows: —

——— Beethoven's First Symphony. Paper, 15 cents.
——— Second Symphony. Paper, 15 cents.
——— Third Symphony. (Heroic.) Paper, 25 cents.
——— Fourth Symphony. Paper, 15 cents.

"It is based on common sense, and health and strength run through its pages. Its truths are put in epigrammatic form, and many of them are so directly and logically put that they go home like a bullet . . . One might go through the 260 pages of this book and find on every one of them something to remember and profit by. It deserves a wide audience, and if thoughtfully read and digested is capable of achieving a vast amount of good."—Boston Transcript.

Five Minute Stories.

By Laura E. Richards, author of "Captain January," "Melody," "Queen Hildegarde," etc. A charming collection of short stories and clever poems, for children. Square 12mo, cloth. With illustrations by E. B. Barry, A. R. Whelan, and others. $1.25

"Every mother who takes her little child upon her knee will feel the worth of this book for story reading. Mrs. Richards seems to have anticipated every mood and every liking of children in the variety of story and verse she has provided for their delectation. Innocent fun, bewitching jingle, touches of tenderness, and bits of wisdom are all mingled together, as bright and fleeting as are the varying emotions of the little folks who will enjoy them. The children have found a fairy godmother for story-telling in this famous author, who never seems to find the end of her resources for making the little ones happy."— Primary Education.

Five Mice in a Mouse Trap.

The story of their lives and other wonderful things related by the Man in the Moon, done in the vernacular from the lunacular form by Laura E. Richards, author of "Captain January," "Melody," "Queen Hildegarde," etc. With a large number of beautiful illustrations by Addie Ledyard, Kate Greenaway and others. Handsomely bound in cloth, new design. New edition. $1.25

That Bother of a Boy.

By Grace Stebbins, author of "Wild Kathleen," etc. With 35 beautiful illustrations by Paul Hardy. Third edition, square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

"That Bother of a Boy" will remind some small urchins of the various bits of mischief they have perpetrated or would love to perform. If, however, they are also as good-hearted and honest as this especial little bother, most folks will readily forgive them their scrapes. The story is admirably told; it moves to laughter in almost every page and to "lumps in the throat" not seldom. It will be a favorite not only of this season but of many seasons to come.

Hans Andersen.

A new and complete edition of Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales, being a new translation from the original Danish edition. Handsomely printed from good large type, and fully illustrated with over 200 engravings from original drawings by eminent Scandinavian artists. Quarto [466 pp.], cloth. With a cover design made expressly for the book by L. S. Ipsen. Reduced to $2.00

The Minute Boys of Lexington.

By Edward Stratemeyer. Illustrated by A. B. Shute. An excellent story for boys, founded on historical data, and full of healthful excitement throughout. 12mo, unique cover design. $1.25

While giving the actual happenings of one of the most auspicious days of the early Revolution, it makes one, through the principal characters, feel as though he were himself taking a prominent part in the stirring events.

Little Mr. Van Vere of China.

By Harriet A. Cheever, author of "Little Jolliby's Christmas," etc. Illustrated by Etheldred B. Barry. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

An extremely interesting and pathetic story of a lovable little boy who, becoming weary of the drudgery of his life in a New York City attic, leaves it, when his guardian dies, and goes as a stowaway to China, where, after seeing many wonderful sights, he finds his father, whom he long since supposed dead.

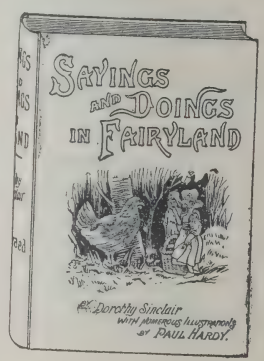
The Pleasant Land of Play.

By Sarah J. Brigham. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury, the well-known illustrator of children's books. A collection of stories and poems for the little ones. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

Sayings and Doings in Fairy Land.

By D. S. Sinclair, author of "The Enchanted Princess," "Sugar Plums for Children," etc. Beautifully illustrated by Paul Hardy. Square 12mo, cloth. $1.25

In this little volume the personages of our old nursery rhymes are made to go through many and varied adventures such as children love to read of.



Stories True and Fancies New.

By Mary W. Morrison (Jenny Wallis). A very entertaining collection of rhymes and chimes for young people, many of which have appeared in the Youth's Companion, Wide Awake, St. Nicholas, and Harper's Round Table. The cover design is by Amy Sacker, and the volume will be profusely illustrated with quaint conceits by L. J. Bridgman. Small quarto, hand- $1.25 some cover design.

The Lollipop's Vacation,

AND OTHER STORIES. By Sophie Swett, author of "Pennyroyal and Mint," etc. For years the readers of St. Nicholas have been delighted with the charming short stories by this author, the best of which are now attractively presented in book form. The best of the original illustrations are used, and a large number of others by Etheldred B. Barry, the well-known illustrator of children's stories, have been added. Square $1.25
12mo, cloth, handsome cover design.

The Wooing of Osyth.

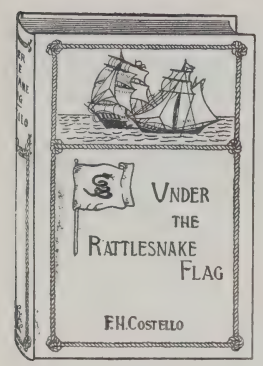
A story of Saxon Times. By R. T. Sizer, author of "Avice Tennant's Pilgrimage," etc. With 48 illustrations, both $1.25
text and full-page, by M. M. Blake. Square 12mo, cloth.

The story is extremely well told, lights and shades are pleasantly mingled, and the contrast between the fierce heathen Danes and the brave but forgiving Saxons is effective. The attempt, too, to give life-like pictures of old times is successful.

Six Girls.

A delightful book for girls. By Fannie Belle Irving. New holiday edition, from new plates, and illustrated with nearly fifty beautiful full-page pictures, from original designs. Small $1.25
4to, illuminated board covers and linings.

A charming story of every-day home life, pure in sentiment and healthy in tone. One of the brightest and most thoroughly enjoyable books for girls that has appeared for many years. Any one who picks it up is sure to read it to the end, and to leave it with regret.



Under the Rattlesnake Flag.

By F. H. Costello, author of "Master Ardick, Buccaneer." Illustrated with full-page half-tone pictures from drawings by J. Steeple Davis. $1.50 12mo, unique cover design.

A splendid sea story of the fateful early days of the American Revolution, told with absolute fidelity to its historic setting. In many ways the author is considered the equal of Clark Russell, especially so in his thrilling descriptions of sea fights.

The Lost City.

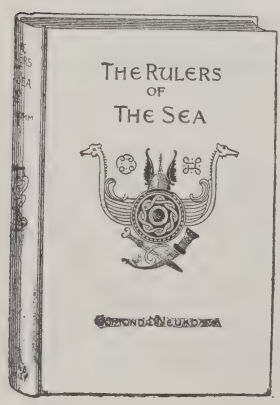
By Joseph E. Badger, Jr. With eight full-page half-tones and cover design from drawings by L. J. Bridgman. 8vo, handsome cover. $1.50

A thrilling story of a lost race of Aztecs supposed to inhabit the Olympian Mountains, in the heart of the State of Washington. It is full of exciting incident, and details the many adventures that befall a party of explorers who venture beyond the mountain fastnesses.

The Crystal City.

By André Laurie. Translated by L. A. Smith. Illustrated with numerous full-page plates from original drawings by G. Roux. 12mo, cloth. $1.50

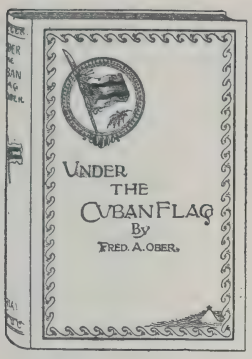
In this story André Laurie makes use of the old tradition that there was once a large continent between Europe and America, which sank beneath the sea long before the Christian era. In his description of this marvellous city and the wonderful inventions by which its inhabitants obtained food and air, M. Laurie much resembles Jules Verne in style.



The Rulers of the Sea.

By Edmond Neukomm. Illustrated by G. Roux and L. [illegible]nett. An intensely interesting historical story, illustrated with numerous full-page half-tones, many of them in color. 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.50

The story deals with the discovery of America in the year 1000 by the Norsemen; the early Norsemen's Colonies in America from the 10th to the 14th Century; the new discovery of America at the end of the 14th Century, and explorations in Brazil four years after Columbus's discovery of America.



Under the Cuban Flag;

Or, The Cacique's Treasure. By Fred A. Ober, author of "Travels in Mexico," "Knockabout Club in the Antilles," etc. Illustrated with full-page drawings. A thrilling story of adventures with the Cuban Insurgents, admirably told. Small 8vo, handsome cover design. $1.50

The author has travelled over nearly every foot of ground in Cuba, and is thoroughly posted on Cuba and the Cubans, what led up to the present war, and what has taken place during the fight for independence.

College Life in all Countries.

Or, Tito the Florentine. By André Laurie. Translated by Laura E. Kendall. Illustrated with numerous original designs by G. Roux. Small 8vo, cloth, new cover design. $1.00 Reduced to

An interesting story of schoolboy life in Sunny Italy, full of entertaining happenings.

Schoolboys in Russia.

By André Laurie. Translated by Laura E. Kendall. Illustrated with seventy-six full-page plates from original designs by G. Roux. Small 8vo, cloth, new cover design. Reduced to $1.00

James Otis's Books for Boys and Girls.

The Boys of Fort Schuyler.

By James Otis. An intensely interesting historical story, dealing with the siege of Fort Schuyler in the Mohawk Valley in 1777 by the British troops and Indians, under Colonel St. Leger and Joseph Brant, chief of the Five Nations. Illustrated with full-page drawings by George Foster Barnes. Square 12mo, cloth, handsome cover design. $1.25

It is full of exciting incident from beginning to the end, and is unquestionably one of the best historical Indian stories ever written.

The "Stories of American History" Series.

By James Otis, author of "Toby Tyler," "Jenny Wren's Boarding House," etc. Each story complete in one volume; with 17 original illustrations by L. J. Bridgman. Small 12mo, neatly bound in extra cloth. Each 75c

When Israel Putnam Served the King.

By James Otis. A story of the French and Indian War. The 7th volume in his "Stories of American History" Series. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. Small 4to, uniform cover design. 75c

A new volume in the author's deservedly popular "Stories of American History" Series.

2. The Signal Boys of '75: A Tale of the Siege of Boston.
3. Under the Liberty Tree: A Story of the Boston Massacre.
4. The Boys of 1745 at the Capture of Louisburg.
5. An Island Refuge: Casco Bay in 1676.
6. Neal the Miller: A Son of Liberty.
7. Ezra Jordan's Escape from the Massacre at Fort Loyall.

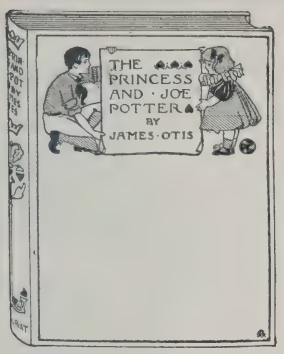
"The secret of the author's success lies in his wonderful sympathy with the aspirations of child-life, his truthful delineation of life among the class of children who act as his object-lessons, and his avoidance of anything that would have a tendency to pander to any unhealthy taste."



The Princess and Joe Potter.

By James Otis. A new volume in the "Jenny Wren Series." Illustrated with numerous full-page and text drawings by Violet Oakley. Small quarto, handsome cover design. $1.25

An excellent story of newsboy life in New York City, in the delineation of which the author is best known.

Jenny Wren's Boarding House.

"Jenny Wren's Boarding House" is distinctively a story of newsboy life in New York, and Mr. Otis very quickly finds his way to the sensitive and loving heart that beats under the ragged and torn coat of the little boy who is untiring in his efforts to sell his papers and thereby earn a mere pittance with which to sustain life. His newsboys are real and very wide-awake." — Boston Herald.

Teddy and Carrots;

Or, Two Merchants of Newspaper Row. By James Otis. The fourth volume in the series of which "Jenny Wren's Boarding House" was the first. Illustrated by W. A. Rogers. Kitty Landon's Girlhood.

By Jessie Armstrong, author of "Mark Marsen's Secret," etc. Illustrated by Miss Caroline Manning. 8vo, cloth, attractive cover. $1.25

The century was young when Kitty Landon passed her girlhood in a small town on the south coast of England. Miss Armstrong has succeeded in writing a story interesting both to boys and girls. While the latter will enjoy reading of gentle Kitty's disappointments and trials and her final happiness, the stirring adventures and exciting incidents with which the book is filled will appeal strongly to the taste of the boys.

The Holiday Prize.

By E. D. Adams, author of "Comrades True," "Colonel Russell's Baby," etc. With numerous text and full-page illustrations by K. M. Skeaping. 8vo, cloth, attractive cover. $1.25

The prize is to be given at the end of the summer holidays to the boy who proves himself most gentle and chivalrous towards his girl playmates. The trials of the boys, who are, of course, imposed upon by the girls, their revolt and their subsequent agreement, with its amusing results, furnish the plot of the story. A pleasant vein of humor runs through the book, but neither this nor the interest of the plot is allowed to obscure the lesson of unselfishness so clearly and convincingly taught.

Winning the Victoria Cross.

By L. Thompson, author of "The Royal Eagle," and illustrated by W. B. Wollen. 12mo, cloth, colored edges, with handsome cover in gold and colors. $1.25

Rex is a boy after one's own heart, and is bound to make many friends. He starts out at an early age to win the Victoria Cross, and the story of his adventures by land and sea and the final accomplishment of his aim, will find many eager readers.
